People of Britain And West Europe Are Sweltering

In London at 3.30 p.m. To-day Thermometers Stood at 94; Storm Sweeps Over District of Glamis Castle, Where Duchess of York and Baby Are.

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 29.—Nearly two score deaths have occurred in Great Britain during the present heat wave, which has been scorching the British Isles and the European continent since early in the week.

By mid-afternoon six names had been added to the twenty-nine deaths previously recorded as due to the heat in Great Britain, while hundreds were treated for prostration in hospital.

One man committed suicide in London to-day, his action attributed to the effect of the blinding weather, while a trainer feeding four bears in a travelling circus at Hastings was killed by the heat-maddened animals.

The local temperature kept pace with yesterday's record strides. Early this morning the thermometer registered 88 degrees Fahrenheit. By noon it had jumped to 88. It reached its peak for the day at 9.30 p.m., when it soared to 94, the same as yesterday's maximum. It had dropped one degree half an hour later. The only relief lay in the fact that the air stirred somewhat more to-day than yesterday.

STORMS CAUSE LOSSES
Some other parts of Britain, however, were visited by sudden electrical storms. One broke over the town of Glamis and Glamis Castle, where the Duchess of York lies with her newly-born baby. It blew down the telephone lines and caused severe damage to crops. A farmhouse near the castle was struck by lightning, but no one was injured.

SUIT AGAINST MAYOR WALKER OF NEW YORK

Suspended Marshal Alleges Slander; Serving of Summons Discourteous

New York, Aug. 29.—Mayor James J. Walker was defendant to-day in a $250,000 slander suit brought by a suspended city marshal who had paid $2,000 for his job.

Jacob Cash, the suspended marshal, objects to a statement by the mayor that he was removed for "preying upon the poor" and that twenty-nine complaints were involved in his dismissal. He contends there was only one charge against him and that was "framed."

A summons in the suit was served on the mayor as he stood on the steps at the City Hall yesterday extending the city's greetings to the four German aviators who flew across the North Atlantic. Mr. Walker later described the method used in serving the summons as "discourteous, not only to the mayor, but to the whole city of New York."

KINGSFORD-SMITH TO-DAY UNDERWENT TONSIL OPERATION

Middlesburgh, Holland, Aug. 29.—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, famous Australian aviator, to-day underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils in the same hospital where he recently was operated on for appendicitis. The flier later was reported as progressing favorably.

Seven hungry children under sixteen years of age to provide for and nothing to do with. That is the situation faced by the widow of a miner who died in the mine tragedy of August 13. She is but one of many whom it is sought to help by the Blakeburn relief fund which is being raised by a committee through The Victoria Daily Times and other newspapers throughout the Province.

Seventeen other Blakeburn mothers are facing the same problem in varying degrees. The sum of $304.92 has already been subscribed to the list opened by The

AUTO FIRMS ASK INCREASE IN CAR TARIFF

Representatives of Manufacturers Carry Request to Ottawa Government

Action of New Zealand in Cancelling Preferential Rates Is Discussed

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Tariff representatives from Canadian automobile manufacturers are before the Department of National Revenue. While no official statement has been made, it is understood an increase in the duty against United States cars has been asked. No decision on the representations, it is learned definitely, has been made.

Headed by T. A. Russell, Toronto, representatives of several Canadian automobile manufacturing concerns and of the Canadian Auto Manufacturers' and Exporters' Association, saw Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, and E. W. Bredner, commissioner of customs, yesterday. The interview in camera was brief, and Mr. Russell and his associates returned to Toronto on an evening train.

NEW ZEALAND'S ACTION
Another question understood to have been discussed appertained to the action of New Zealand in placing imported motor cars and accessories on the general tariff list. These exports during the last four years have received the benefit of the preference tariff of the Antipodean Dominion, but Premier Forbes a few days ago announced that treatment had been cancelled. The whole question of negotiating a direct trade agreement between Canada and New Zealand is to be discussed on the arrival of Premier Forbes here on his arrival to the Imperial Conference, and it is understood that fact was pointed out to the representatives of the automobile concerns. Present trade arrangements between the two countries will terminate October 12.

Two Young Men Arrested and Held on Suspicion of Sharing in Plot

Calcutta, India, Aug. 29.—F. J. Lowman, acting-inspector-general of police, were both shot and seriously wounded to-day while leaving the Military Hospital at Dacca.

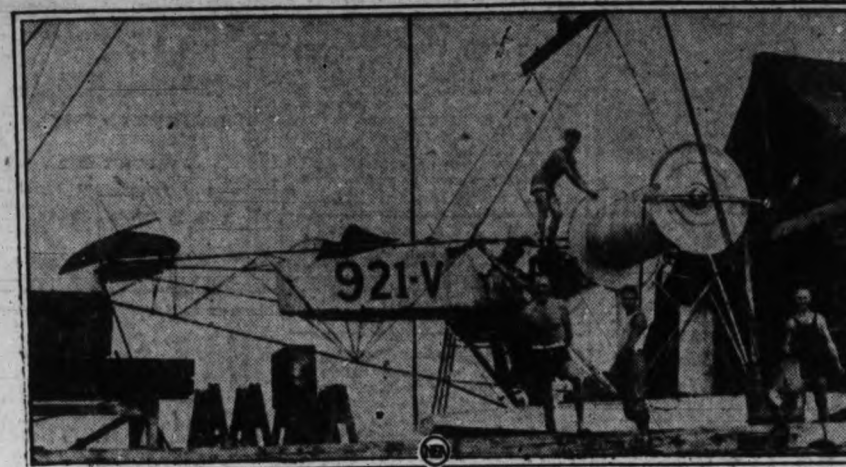

A revolver was the weapon used. A hospital employee seized the Bengal youth who had fired the shots, but could not hold him and he escaped, leaving behind his gun and slippers. Later two Bengal youths were arrested on suspicion in connection with the crime.

Valuable Timber in District; Flames Advance Before Stiff Breeze

Vancouver, Aug. 29.—Panned by a stiff breeze, a forest fire is raging in the vicinity of Sechelt, according to reports reaching the provincial forestry office here, while the area over which the fire is burning is not definitely known, the reports of an observer aboard a Western Canada Airways Limited plane is expected to give the facts.

A crew of men from Sechelt has been dispatched to the fire and additional help is being recruited from nearby settlements.

Rotors Displace Wings of Airplane

Above is pictured the newest of all types of heavier-than-air craft. It is reported actually to have been flown in private tests off Mamaroneck, N.Y. Secretly built aboard a barge by six men who lived the lives of hermits during its construction, the revolutionary craft, which operates on the same principle as the Flettner rotor ship, was designed to eclipse the present type of flying machine. The picture shows the spool-like rotor on the right side of the ship. It has another on the left side. It adapts, for flying purposes, the phenomenon of changing the direction of the air pressure and currents. A motor in the nose of the craft supplies traction through a three-bladed propeller. Except for the absence of wings, the machine resembles a seaplane.

NEW BY-LAW FOR BARBER SHOPS NEED

Prosecution of D. Kinnon Is Dropped When Tangle Is Discovered

Legality of Measure Open to Challenge, Prosecutor Says

Possibility that the city by-law governing the closing of barber shops at 6 o'clock each evening would not stand a challenge of its legality resulted in the withdrawal of prosecution against D. Kinnon in City Police Court this morning.

Mr. Kinnon was charged with keeping a shop at 1104 Douglas Street open after hours. City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison explained to the court that after investigating the by-law dealing with the question he found it might be challenged.

The prosecution, he said, was laid under by-law 2613, passed in July 1918, which repealed by-law 1833, passed in 1915, and dealing with the same matter, the early closing of barber shops.

COULD NOT BE REPEALED
Under statutory regulations it was provided that when a by-law under the Shops Regulation Act was passed pursuant to a petition, it could not be repealed except by petition. By-law 1833 had been passed by petition and there was no record that by-law 2033, repealing the former one, had been passed as the result of a petition. Therefore it appeared that by-law 2013 was invalid, and 1833 might be good.

"It seems these by-laws are in a tangle, and some new method will have to be adopted to get a new by-law," he said.

By-law 1833 provides for the closing of barber shops at 7.30 o'clock in the evening of week days and in o'clock on Saturdays.

By-law 2013 provides for closing at 7 o'clock on week days and 9.30 o'clock on Saturdays.

A new by-law, governing the early closing of shops passed by the City Council last year but, it is understood, this does not affect the barber shop regulations which are dealt with by special by-laws.

Party Job-seekers See Ray of Hope In New Liquor Board

Three Commissioners Find First Week of Time Occupied With Letters, Telegrams and Callers in Stampede for Government Haven; Brewers' Pact and Liquor Agencies Under Consideration; Government Costs Mounting Rapidly.

British Columbia's new $20,000 three-man Liquor Control Board, ranking with the Tolmie $70,000 cabinet as a masterpiece of lousy overhead organization, will have been officially in operation for a week to-morrow according to a proclamation issued from the Parliament Buildings to-day.

The change from the one-man board responsible to the Legislature to the three-man board responsible only to the government went into effect on August 23, the proclamation says.

Although the change in liquor administration has been vigorously scored as a move to build up a greater political machine than any before known, not even excluding the heyday of the alcohols, no criticism has been offered on the grounds that the members of the board are inactive.

Since their appointment a week ago the three members of the board have been the busiest of all government officials. Their labors during the first week have been equally as strenuous as when the eleven members of the Tolmie cabinet took over their duties. As was the case with the cabinet ministers, the Liquor Commissioners are swamped with applications from party workers whose eyes have for two years turned to government jobs without avail.

APPLICATIONS FOUR IN

HEARING OF M'LEAN SET WEDNESDAY

Stuart Henderson to Defend Accused on $10,000 Theft Charge

Two Others Get Bail of $500; Bail Forfeited By Fourth

Hearing of Arthur McLean on a charge of stealing $10,000 from Henry W. Simpson, San Francisco, will proceed in City Police Court next Wednesday morning. McLean, who was represented by Stuart Henderson to-day, was remanded to that date.

In a wire received by Chief John Fry, Mr. Simpson states he will arrive in Victoria to-morrow morning ready to testify in the case.

Wednesday was set as a preliminary date for the hearing. Accused has not yet elected whether he will take summary trial or trial by higher court. He did not ask for bail this morning. In the cases of Louis Bentley and George Stevens, held for vagrancy on suspicion, bail was fixed in two sureties or cash. They were both remanded to Tuesday morning.

Herbert W. Warner, charged with vagrancy and released on $50 bail yesterday, failed to answer when called and the bail money was forfeited. A warrant will be issued for his arrest.

The Nipponese will play on the mainland on Labor Day against a picked squad under the leadership of Murray Rowan, and will return to this city after a series of games, for two matches on September 17 and 20. LIPTON GIVES CUP FOR RACES OF FISHERMEN

Schooner Bluenose of Nova Scotia to Sail Against the Thebaud of Massachusetts

Canadian Press
Newport, R.I., Aug. 29.—Sir Thomas Lipton, British yachtsman and challenger for the America's Cup, to-day said he would furnish a trophy for competition between the Atlantic fishermen of Canada and the United States.

Britain's grand old man of yachting conferred on board his steam yacht Erin with Captain Ben Pine, representative of the Gloucester fishermen. It was decided the cup would be known as the Sir Thomas Lipton International Fishermen's Challenge Trophy.

Pine will sail the United States schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud against the Nova Scotia schooner Bluenose, Captain Angus Walters of Lunenburg, in a series opening off Gloucester, October 9.

After one vessel wins two races at Gloucester, the schooners will go to Halifax, N.S., for another three-race series. In the second series the Dennis Trophy, now held by the Nova Scotia committee, will be at stake.

GOVERNMENT TAKES OVER MORE ROADS

Thirteen Miles From Duncan Comes Under Arterial Classification

Public Works Minister Forges Ahead With His New Highway Policy

Carrying out the policy of Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, to establish a network of arterial highways throughout the Province for the maintenance and construction of which the government would assume all responsibility, classification of twenty more stretches of road as arterial highways has been made this week. Other road reclassification is also announced.

Three districts on Vancouver Island are affected. In Saanich, where thirty-two miles of road comprising the East Saanich Road, the West Saanich Road and the Gorge Road, have been taken over by the government as arterials, the Keesling Cross Road has been changed from a primary to a secondary highway. As a primary highway it was maintained by the government with one-quarter of the expenditure the government made on the road. As a secondary highway the municipality will be responsible for the maintenance, and will charge the government with one-half of the cost.

COURTESY BENEFITS
The Island Highway running through Courtenay, a distance of about one-and-a-half miles, has been changed from a primary highway to an arterial highway.

Establishment of other arterial highways is announced for the following districts: Burnaby, Burns Lake Village, Chilliwack Municipality, Coquitlam, Creston, Grand Forks City, Langley, Hope, Maple Ridge, Matsqui, Mission Village and Mission Municipality, North Vancouver, Pitt Meadows, Port Moody and Sumas.

Under the plan of arterial highways, as announced by the Public Works Minister the government will take over all main roads in the Province, and will derive its revenue for maintenance from the rapidly growing automobile freight and bus passenger business. Provision is made for the collection of a one per cent tax on the gross earnings of the companies, and at the same time the government assumes control of the operations of the companies with the right to set schedules and grant, refuse or cancel franchises.

POULTRY SHOW AND SPORTS AT TORONTO FAIR

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Opening of the poultry show, outstanding events at the horse show in the Coliseum, a match race between New Zealand's eight-oared rowing crew and the Toronto Argonauts, and a number of other sporting attractions provided the features of to-day's programme at the Canadian National Exhibition, which had been dedicated to Saskatchewan and the press.

Swimmers who competed in the men's and women's marathons staged in the lake in front of the exhibition grounds on August 22 and 27 and were successful in winning places in the prize list were awarded their cheques before the grandstand.

LAST BIG TREE OF FAMOUS "GREEN TIMBERS" IS FELLED

New Westminster, Aug. 29.—The last forest giant of the once-famous Surrey "Green Timbers" has fallen and only the pigmies of later years remain to tell the story of the mighty forest that had seen more than 200 years pass into oblivion.

The Green Timbers were the admiration of thousands of visitors from Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria, and were known and admired by tourists from every province of Canada and every state of the United States.

For many years the area was a forest temple, a study in lights and shadows, most beautiful, perhaps, when the snow and frost wizards transformed it into a fairyland of surpassing beauty.

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 29.—An explosion of sewer gas here to-day tore up sidewalks, smashed windows and terrified citizens for blocks around with a deafening roar.

Two persons were injured by the blast. A truck driver was heaved against the seat of a heavy truck loaded with three tons of asphalt which was tossed three feet in the air. Mrs. H. Head was hurled to the pavement by the force of the explosion. One little girl fainted from shock.

MUCH SMOKE
Smoke poured out of the manholes in dense volume for some time.

Total cost of replacement of the pavement and sidewalks is placed by city experts at $20,000, and individual property damage will add another thousand to the total.

Officials of the sewers branch of the civic works department were at a loss to explain the cause of the explosion. One theory advanced is that the blast was started by gasoline poured into the sewers by cleaning companies.

Pembroke, Ont., Aug. 29.—Thrown from the rails while traveling at full speed, the locomotive of the Transcanada Limited, Canadian Pacific Railway train, went down an embankment at the outskirts of Pembroke early to-day. Three members of the crew were injured and the condition of another man who was riding in the engine cab is critical.

The injured are: Charles Shuldice, fireman, Ottawa, fracture of the skull and scold; condition grave. Basil Watson, Ottawa, riding in the engine cab, badly scalded; condition serious. Engineer G. Clarke, broken leg. Lester Weeks, Montreal, colored porter, dislocated thumb.

No passengers were injured. Early investigation did not definitely establish the cause of the accident, but railway officials suspected a switch had been tampered with at the point where the locomotive left the rails.

CREWS SPEED WORK
Wrecking crews were immediately brought to the scene and the tracks were clear for traffic seven hours after the wreck.

BEST PLATOON IS SELECTED IN 16TH SCOTISH

Lieut. W. Oliver Heads Group Winning Efficiency Honors For Year

No. 16 Section in "D" Company is Adjudged High

The annual platoon competition, which is fast becoming a feature in raising the Sixteenth Canadian Battalion to a high degree of efficiency in all branches of the service, has been won this year by No. 16 Platoon, commanded by Lieut. W. Oliver, with Sergeant G. C. Shepherd as platoon sergeant.

The competition is wide and varied in scope, entailing efficiency from the commencement of the training season to the end of summer camp in each year. The competition is devised so that every man in the platoon must give points which all go to swell the platoon's aggregate and so to mark it as the best in the regiment.

POPULAR COMPETITION

This competition is fast becoming one of the feature events of the training season, and is popular with all ranks. The incident rivalry produced is making for an excellent esprit de corps within the battalion. The competition is doing more to instill a spirit of co-operation within all ranks than any other phase of regimental activity. It is making for increased individual and collective efficiency.

This year has witnessed an unsurpassed rivalry among platoons and much credit is due to No. 16 Platoon as a whole, and to Lieut. Oliver, Sergeant and the section commanders individually for their splendid work throughout the entire training season in placing their platoon in the front rank.

No. 16 Section of "D" Company, commanded by Corporal H. C. Botten, has been adjudged the best section. This is one of the highest honors in the regiment.

From the marks just released Sergeant J. L. Henslow is justly the most efficient sergeant in the battalion. Sergt. Henslow is a highly efficient N.C.O. and to add to a year of achievement in the regiment, was a member of the Lewis gun team which was first in British Columbia at the recent competition at Heale's Ranges. Sergeant Henslow's work throughout the year has brought forth unstinted praise.

WILL ACCOMPANY LIEUT.-GOVERNOR TO BANFF GAMES

of the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish, whose platoon won the annual efficiency contest of the battalion, giving him the honor of being the most proficient platoon platoon of the regiment. By virtue of this standing, he will accompany Lieutenant-Governor Bruce as aide during the Highland Scottish games at Banff.

THREE MEN ARE EXECUTED IN NEW YORK STATE

Oswego, N.Y., Aug. 29.—Guarded closely to frustrate any last-minute attempt at violence, three convicts were executed yesterday evening for the slaying of a fellow convict during the Auburn Prison riot of last December.

Claude Udwin, twenty-nine; William Force, thirty; and Jesse Thomas, twenty, were convicted of slaying Henry Sullivan, leader of the mutiny in which ten lives were lost.

The arms of the three men were grasped tightly by guards as they walked from their cells. Warden Lewis E. Lawes later explained one of the men was staying at Oswego, N.Y., to induce a woman relative to smuggle in a gun.

Thomas was the first to be executed and was followed quickly by Force and Udwin.

At attempt by Stella Udwin, sister of one of the men, to see Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at a hotel where he was staying at Oswego, N.Y., failed when she was refused admittance to his suite.

In the December riot in Auburn Prison, A. Sullivan, eight other prisoners and Principal Keeper George Burnford were killed. Six men were tried on charges of murdering Sullivan, but the other three were acquitted.

Thomas, at the time of the riot, had been serving a life sentence for robbery. Force, sixteen years for burglary and grand larceny, and Udwin thirty years for robbery.

Rev. George A. Reynolds will be inducted as permanent pastor of the First Baptist Church at the morning service on Sunday, September 7. Rev. Mr. Reynolds is one of the leaders of the Baptist Church in western Canada, and has been pastor of Kerrisdale Church in Vancouver for nearly nine years.

For several weeks the services at First Baptist Church have been conducted by visiting preachers. Prior to that the pulpit was filled for nearly one year by Rev. A. J. Vincent of Nova Scotia, who accepted a temporary appointment pending selection by the congregation of a permanent pastor. The invitation from the Victoria church several months ago, but continued with the Kerrisdale Church until that body was able to obtain another pastor.

BRITAIN'S CAPITAL EXPORT

(From The Manitoba Free Press)

An analysis of capital movements during the past few years, prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, indicates that Great Britain is still financing foreign development on a scale almost as extensive as the United States, which have far greater resources. The Bureau estimates that from 1924 to 1928 Great Britain exported capital to the amount of $600,000,000 a year. This, of course, is partly explained by the long tradition of international banking in Great Britain. First among the countries of the world to accumulate capital in excess of its needs, it was the first to assist the development of other lands. British capital built the railways of the world. British capital developed Russian oil. British capital opened the continent of Africa. In the Far East it was the British banker who oiled the wheels of trade. But in those far-off days British domestic industry was expanding rapidly. Unemployment was present, as it always is present, but it was not the problem which exists to-day. The anomalous situation now exists of a country with 2,000,000 unemployed upon its rolls which is able to finance the development of foreign trade and industry to the extent of $600,000,000 a year. The means that British bankers are able to provide all the capital needed for internal expansion, and still have a surplus to spend in other countries. The necessary opportunities for investment, apparently, do not exist within the borders of Britain, and this in spite of the fact that what was the normal expansion of her standard trades.

Hence there appears this apparent paradox: a country able to ship capital abroad, and unable to do anything to find jobs for two million of her own workmen at home.

SHIPS' CREWS OUT OF WORK

Montreal, Aug. 29.—With between sixty and seventy lake steamers tied up in the port of Montreal awaiting their turns to unload grain into the elevators, a period of unemployment faces their crews. The situation at present is regarded as equally as serious as that of early last year, when the glut in lake tonnage here was considered startlingly heavy.

Most of the vessels upon arriving discharged all their crew with the exception of a skeleton outfit. The discharged members have been allowed the right to sleep on board their boats while not employed.

The crowding of lake boats into the harbor has been gradually growing, with only an occasional drop in the figures, from the beginning of the season until now there are about sixty-five vessels with approximately 6,000,000 bushels of grain in their holds. The elevators have 12,250,000 bushels in storage.

VIEWS VARY ON STATE INSURANCE

Charles Chivers, representing the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, stated his organization was in favor of state health insurance, but wished the cost to be borne by those paying the income tax. Asked as to the salary limit of those to be exempted, he stated all workers receiving $80.00 per month or less should not have to support this scheme.

The Royal Commission, which was appointed by the Legislature on April 16, 1929, will hold one more sitting before commencing the preparation of its report to the government. The last meeting will be held to hear the views of fraternal, social and labor organizations all over the province. The commission has already issued a progress report and has just returned from an extensive tour of the province where it has heard hundreds of witnesses.

ENDORSED BY WORKERS
"Working men all over the Province are overwhelmingly in favor of this scheme," stated Commissioner C. Frank Davis, "in fact I can truthfully say we have heard more objection to it to-night than at any other city in the Province."

Social and humanitarian principles were advanced by most of the witnesses yesterday as their reason for supporting the scheme. Many of those testifying were particularly interested in maternity benefits. Others dealt with the line of demarcation between health insurance and the Workers' Compensation Act. Many were anxious to point out possible mistakes which might be made by the commission in its report.

A few were definitely opposed to the idea on conscientious grounds or disliked the idea of compulsory contributions.

MENCKEN SAYS
U.S. IS MOST
COMICAL LANDEditor of American Mercury
Gives Interview on Visit to Montreal

Montreal, Aug. 29.—In his best iconoclastic form, Henry L. Mencksen, double editor of The American Mercury, in an interview here yesterday attacked the MacDonald government of Great Britain as one that "had failed to do every single thing that was expected of it." He assailed President Hoover and his record, and commented on prohibition and other phases of current United States life.

Mr. and Mrs. Mencksen arrived yesterday following their quietly celebrated marriage Wednesday at Baltimore, a marriage "fittingly enough carried out at the Church of St. Stephen the Martyr," Mencksen explained with a laugh. The couple will live in Baltimore following the honeymoon, he explained.

"Ramsay MacDonald is a kind of Methodist evangelist," said Mr. Mencksen. "This is the only government I have ever heard of that has failed to do every single thing that was expected of it. From the man in the street who expected to get food for his empty stomach to the high-minded Liberal who looked to him for a solution of the problems of India he has failed them all."

The consequences of the prohibition law were felt elsewhere, he said. For instance, no self-respecting lawyer could now afford to accept an appointment to the Federal bench, the body in whose hands enforcement had been invested, because of the social stigma that went with the position. "He couldn't find any decent person to drink with him," said Mr. Mencksen. "Once the Federal bench was a stronghold of decency, a gentleman's bulwark against swine and now the judges are appointed by the Anti-Saloon League."

But on the whole Mr. Mencksen professed himself satisfied with the government of the United States. "It is a comic government, but perhaps it is as good as any," he said. "When dreadful things happen people laugh and take the situation lightly, and every day it grows more comical. There is probably no other country in the world so comical."

TARIFF FAILS TO HOLD FRUIT
PRICES IN EAST

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Prices of domestic fruit and vegetables broke 10 to 30 per cent in Toronto-commercial markets yesterday, as heavy shipments from producing areas began to arrive. The break was disheartening to commission men and growers, who had expected price levels for them. General business conditions, over-production in all lines of commodities and the consequent competition of producers to sell, is held responsible for the unexpected break in prices.

IS TOPIC OF
MEDICAL MENAddresses at Convention of British Medical Association

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Surgeons gathered at a section session of the annual convention of the British Medical Association here yesterday agreed that cancer was the most serious of all diseases, where operations would be fatal, but that it had not yet advanced far enough to displace surgery entirely for cancer treatment.

Noted physicians at a clinical session pointed out that many childhood nervous disorders were due to failure of parents to realize some children were instinctively contrary.

More than one thousand medical men thronged the banquet hall, where the association's annual dinner was given. They heard toast speeches by Lord Moynehan of Leeds, Eng., who envisaged a new foundation of "Love and honor, truth and charity, purest faith and simple duty" for the British Empire if it is to endure; by Professor W. W. Chipman, Montreal, outlining the value and achievements of the empire-wide medical body; by Sir St. Clair Thomson, London, who eulogized the guests; and by Professor A. M. Burgess, Manchester, England, whose bow was directed "to the ladies."

DEATH DARED BY ADVENTURERS IN WEIRD LANDS

Three Men Cross Equatorial Africa in Light Car; Survive Desert Sandstorm

Gen. Wrangel Reveals Inside Story of White Russians War on Community

London, Aug. 29.—The loom of empire is weaving a strange pattern through two hemispheres. It has pushed a regular air service as far as Delhi on the way to Australia, which itself will be brought into continuous touch by airplane before the end of next year. Planes will soon be carrying passengers and mails from Cairo to the Central African Lakes, and later to the Cape.

They 5,500 miles in a small car across Equatorial Africa from the east to Lake Chad and then northwards from the Niger to the Algerian coast across 650 miles of the waterless Sahara. Yet this is what Captain Owen Tweedy and his companions did, and their adventures are vividly described by him in an absorbing book he has written under the title, "By way of Sahara" (an African Odyssey of Three Men and a Grocer's Van). There are also excellent illustrations to give the reader an idea of what the journey involved and of what the intrepid travelers saw and endured. It all began out of a chance meeting between the author and Richard Crofton in London, and the introduction of a 10-cv. Chevrolet commercial van to a small scale map of Africa, "the grocer's van" in fact. The other member of the party was Mr. Crofton's gun-bearer, Mohammed, Capt. Tweedy tells the story in the form of a diary—probably the best way of telling it. And a fascinating account it makes. It is entertaining to the last degree. They endured the sandstorms of the Sahara; the idiosyncrasies of the car—and they were many, especially when it got itself dug into the sand several times a day, and when water—precious as it is there—intended for drinking got mixed with the petrol, and many curious encounters with deceitful traders and fussy officials.

A SANDSTORM IN THE DESERT

This sort of thing was experienced in the desert: "The sandstorm had become a 'earling' tornado, beating against the curtains of the 'grocer's van,' behind which we cowered and tried and failed to sleep. Our food was heaped, hot, and full of grit; the horizon had disappeared in a haze of grey. . . . It was a place where everything seemed dead, where death was triumphing in an exultation of noise, as though gloating over the impending doom of three dejected mortals. . . ."

Again, another trial, this time by night: "We struck a drift which exhausted our gears in forty yards. We were hopelessly bogged. Like fools—tired fools—we tried the easy way out without unloading, and sank deeper than ever. . . . Three times we had to jig and jack and push. . . . A bogging in the dark had the great advantage that Canada is included in a tribute to the Americas, which occupy a central position at the California and Western States Agricultural Exposition at Sacramento, California, August 30 to September 7. The tribute will be in the form of a replica of the Mayan Temple of the Sun at Palenque, Mexico, and is being built by Sacramento County in honor of delegates to the Pan American Reciprocal Trade Conference to be held the week previous to the exposition.

although we knew that all around us were square leagues of engulfing desert, which in daylight would strike despondency into the boldest heart, by night we could only see our own little problem."

These brief excerpts will prepare the reader for a travel story not without humor, and all the time full of humanity, courage and imperturbability. The journey took 364 hours of driving alone, six days in camp, forty-three on the road, and the average speed was 15.2 miles an hour.

GENERAL WRANGEL'S MEMOIRS

In "The Memoirs of General Wrangel, Late Commander-in-Chief of the Russian National Army," General Wrangel tells the story of the vigorous army of White Russians waged against the Communists. Had the General been made Commander-in-Chief at an earlier stage in the fight against Communism, the struggle might have had a very different outcome. As it was, he put up a great fight, but when the great powers refused to help him at the most critical point of the campaign, his army was forced to give up the struggle and evacuate the Crimea. General Wrangel's campaign was, however, anything but a forlorn hope. Twice were the Reds almost defeated, and twice General Wrangel entrusted the vital expeditions to generals on his staff, which failed because the commanders did not carry out their orders with sufficient "dash." The most valuable ally General Wrangel had was Poland, for she kept most of the red troops engaged in battle, leaving only a comparative few—though many more than the general's force—to be reckoned with by him. The declaration of peace between the Reds and Poland was for him the end, although the Poles helped him by delaying the settlement for as long as possible.

According to General Wrangel, the White Russian Army is still in existence, its members working on the continent, and living in small Russian communities. "United as we are by all that we have lived through together, owing our existence to none but ourselves, we wait calmly for the day when our forces will be recalled by our country, and we shall give them to her joyfully."

FLYING OFFICER'S ADVENTURE

The adventures of two Royal Air Force officers after a forced landing in the wilds of the Indian hills are recalled by the announcement of the engagement of Flight-Lieutenant R. Ivelaw-Chapman, D.F.C., A.F.C., to Betty, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Short, of Borough Green, Kent. Flight-Lieut. Ivelaw-Chapman, and Flying-Officer A. R. E. Davies, during January of last year, left Risalpur Aerodrome to fly to Kabul to rescue Europeans in danger in the city. After about two hours' flight the engines gave signs of trouble, but by a stroke of fortune they succeeded in landing on a small plateau. Describing the incident, Lieut. Chapman said, "I found we were on a small plateau, roughly sixty yards square, undulating and strewn with small boulders, with a steep drop of about 200 feet on either side." Immediately the two travelers were surrounded by a horde of heavily-armed Afghans. Amid the babel raised by the rascous natives, an officer arrived who took their ransom chits. The officer, whom they later discovered was Mohamed Khan, a brigadier in the army still loyal to Ali Ahmed Khan, led them off under armed escort. Later they were taken to Jagdallak, where they were treated as political prisoners. Eventually Ali Ahmed Khan provided a car for the two officers which took them, still under escort, to Jalalabad. From there Lieut. Chapman communicated with Peshawar, and a machine was sent to rescue them, but crashed on the way. It was repaired, and the two officers returned to Risalpur twenty days after the beginning of their adventures. Lieut. Chapman, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivelaw-Chapman, of Charlton Kings, Cheltenham, was later awarded the Air Force Cross.

THRILLS OF ORCHID HUNTING

"The Odyssey of an Orchid Hunter," by F. D. Burdett, is a fascinating book, with thrills in the reading. The author, one of the first prospectors of the big Kimberley gold rush and a noted planter, explorer, and orchid collector, tells his stories of the South Sea Islands—loved by those old-timers Billy Hayes, Robert Louis Stevenson and Louis Blake—as a soporific should. His yarns are none the less exciting because they are of real experience with real people and of elemental forces, natural and human. Through them all runs grippingly the action of adventure and often to the dividing line of life and death among the savage Igorote head-hunters; to the Negro python-hunters in the Borneo jungle of perpetual twilight; and to the Moro warriors of Mindanao and their conquerors—Leonard Wood and Fenshing of the United States Army. To all those ready to take a sporting chance, takes the reader, Habits, dress and characteristics of differing native tribes are fluently described, and the vicissitudes of chance are shown, by relation of such happenings as the accidental stumbling upon exotic orchids of great value "in the loveliest garden God ever made."

MISSIONARY STEAMER'S VOYAGE

Out of the pence invested by boys and girls throughout Great Britain there is growing a sailing ship, the John Williams V, eighty feet long by twenty-four feet beam, which is now being constructed of steel at Grange-mouth, on the Forth. A schooner with auxiliary oil engines, she is to succeed the John Williams IV, which for thirty-five years has been unceasingly voyaging from island to island in the South Seas, linking up the scattered missionary communities over an area 2,000 miles from north to south, and 800 miles from east to west. The old John Williams has had her day. Some of the islands which she served are now within the radius of ordinary lines of steamers. The new John Williams will have, as her chief field of service, the isolated Gilbert Islands group, and one or two others, which are still dependent upon the missionary vessel for communication with the outside world. How necessary such a vessel is may be realized from a simple fact. There are eight or nine missionaries in the Gilbert Islands; Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, the senior missionaries, have two children, one at Eatham College and the other at Walthamstow Hall, Sevenoaks. But when, on a recent occasion, the John Williams IV failed to make her usual call at the Gilberts, the children and everybody else in the homeland had no news of the parents for five months. The John Williams V will be ready for sailing by the middle of June. Before going out to the South Seas in the middle of September, however, she is to make a tour of the principal ports of the British Isles, so that she may be inspected by many thousands of the supporters of the London Missionary Society, and especially the Sunday School children, who raise about £7,000 a year to meet the running costs of the Peace Ship. The society is endeavoring to raise about £15,000 in connection with this summer tour, and it is hoped that the remaining £3,000 will be subscribed by the Sunday School children of Australia. This may very likely be the last of the distinguished line of John Williamses, for the next means of communication with the Gilbert and other such remote islands will be by airplane.

ARTERIAL ROAD THROUGH EUROPE

Although the Turkish government cannot be said to offer much encouragement to the settling of foreigners in Turkey, they are now prepared to give greater facilities for tourist traffic, especially motor traffic. In future tourists will be permitted to motor through the military zone, which hitherto has been closed to foreigners, while Ghazi Kemal Pasha has authorized the use of the triptyque, thus simplifying the documentary aspects of touring in Turkey. Roads in that country still leave much to be desired, but it is understood that the Turkish government contemplates the initiation of a scheme of main road improvement. They have also promised to consider favorably a proposal put forward by the automobile association for the construction of the Turkish portion of an arterial road across Europe to link Great Britain with Turkey and the East.

THE LARGEST CONSTITUENCY

A Canadian, Dr. Black, claims to represent the largest constituency in the world. He sits in the Dominion House of Commons as member for the Yukon and Northwest Territory. The area of his constituency is 1,300,000 square miles, and the electorate numbers 11,000 voters. It has been calculated that if Dr. Black conscientiously visited all his constituents he would require four years of steady traveling to cover the area. Fortunately he is well known, even over this vast area. Before becoming member of Parliament he served several years as Commissioner for the Yukon.

PYGMENT

Adventures among African pygmies who tried to break into her tent while she was having a bath to see if she was really white all over are described by Mrs. Carl Akersley. Mrs. Akersley, who has spent a year in Central and East Africa, and passed through Paris on her way back to America, said that her white skin puzzled them greatly. "They refused to believe," she said, "that the rest of my body was of the same color, and asked me to undress to convince them. When I refused they tried to enter my tent while I was having a bath, and I had to chase them out with a bucket of soapy water!"

The Ford is Outselling Every Other Car in Canada
by a Large and Constantly Increasing Margin

THE Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, was organized twenty-six years ago. The business was started in a small frame building and the entire first year's production totaled only 117 cars.

Today the fine modern plant covers many acres of ground and the average payroll is in excess of $11,000,000 a year. The first force of 17 men has grown to a peak of 7500, and the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is one of the leading industrial organizations of the Dominion. Canadians may well be proud of the Ford, for it is practically all made in Canada, of Canadian materials, and by Canadian workmen.

That the public appreciates the unusual value built into the Ford is shown by its ever-increasing popularity. In many sections, 50% to 70% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

Following are just a few of the many features that make the Ford a value far above the price:

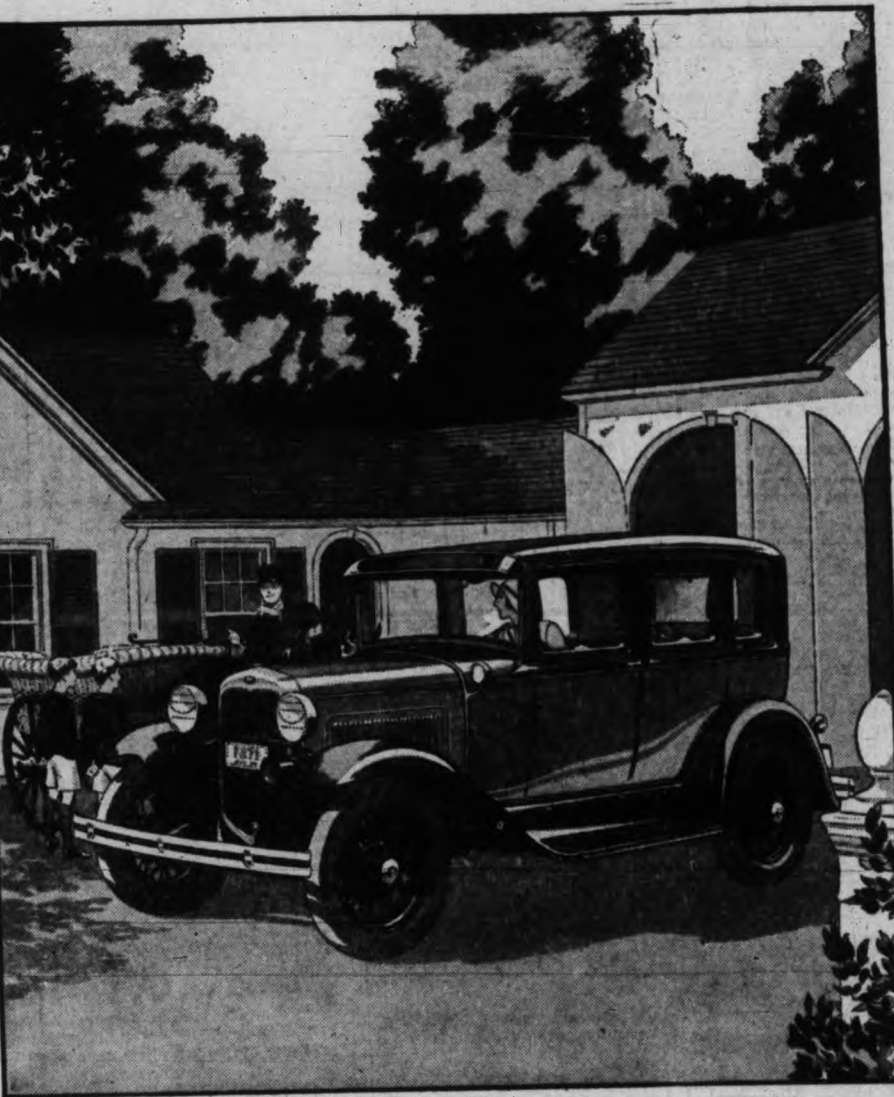

ECONOMY—You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive. During the life of the car, the saving on operation, up-keep and depreciation will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

RELIABILITY—The new Ford has been built to endure. Every part has been carefully made of good materials to give you many years of satisfactory service. Many of the new Fords have already gone 50,000, 75,000 and 100,000 miles.

SPEED AND ACCELERATION—The new Ford will do 55 to 65 miles an hour. Everywhere you go you note its power on the hills and its unusual acceleration in traffic.

ROADABILITY—From all over the Dominion come letters telling of the good performance of the new Ford on rough roads and through heavy mud and sand. In winter, particularly, it has successfully traveled many roads once thought impassable.

COMFORT—Every Ford car is equipped with special transverse springs and four Houdaille

THE STRENGTH OF STEEL—The enduring strength of steel makes the new Ford a sturdy, rugged car. Nearly forty kinds of steel are used in the chassis alone.

RUSTLESS STEEL—Evidence of the high quality built into the Ford is shown by the use of Rustless Steel for the head lamps, radiator shell, hub caps, cowl finish strip, tail lamp and other exterior metal parts. It will not rust, corrode, scale or tarnish in any kind of weather. Its bright luster will last for the life of the car.

A SMOOTH-RUNNING CAR—There are more than twenty ball and roller bearings in the new Ford—an exceptionally large number. They insure smoother operation, save gasoline, give more speed and power, decrease noise and increase the durability and efficiency of the transmission gears.

Betty Carstairs Confident of Winning Speedboat Title

British Girl Now Ready For Races Against Gar Wood

Opening Heat for Harmsworth Trophy Will Be Held To-morrow Afternoon on Detroit River; Challenger Is Well Equipped for Races With Two Boats Capable of Tremendous Speed; Wood Shows Respect for British Girl by Entering Three Craft in Races; 50,000 People to Watch Races.

Detroit, Aug. 29.—The British delegation here for the Harmsworth regatta appears confident Marion Barbara (Betty) Carstairs will succeed in wresting from Gar Wood the trophy emblematic of the world's speedboat championship.

During the ten years Wood has held the trophy hard luck has kept the challengers from finishing the race in every case. Wood admits he has been lucky. A piece of driftwood is enough to wreck a hydroplane and challengers have been wrecked by driftwood, but Wood also has shown foresight in having more than one boat in the race, so that if one was disabled another could carry on.

In the third game of the play-offs of the City Junior Baseball championship the Rosebuds and Nippons will meet at the Royal Athletic Park to-night at 8 o'clock. A win for the Japanese will give them the championship.

The Japanese captured the first game after a great tussle, and the second ended in a three-all score. To-night's fixture is expected to produce some fine ball. Johnny Murray will pitch for the Rosebuds and Michie for the Nippons. W. Simpson and Jack Bacon will act as umpires.

Miss Carstairs is better equipped than any challenger has been. She has two boats designed similarly to Wood's craft and with more powerful engines. "It is regrettable," she said, "that we do not have Sir Henry Segrave with us to aid in this race with Commodore Wood, but I have full confidence in the British team and confidently look for victory."

Sir Henry Segrave was killed in an accident on Lake Windermere, in England, while preparing for the Harmsworth race. Wood has three boats. Miss Carstairs said: "We of the British team are grateful for the compliment paid us by Mr. Wood in deeming it necessary to enter a third boat to compete with us." Wood entered The Miss America V for the race in addition to the Miss America VIII and IX, which were his entrants.

"We always have longed for competition. Now it looks as though we are going to get it. The British boats are real good ships and may be the best team win."

John Cameron, British Consul at Detroit, spoke for the challengers. "There is no justice for the Cubans, what with injuries and twenty inning games. The latest blow is an injury to Charlie Root's pitching arm which may keep him out for two weeks. Root sprained a muscle in the arm in the first inning of Wednesday's game with Pittsburgh."

TILDEN AND HUNTER LOSE

Defeated By Lott and Doeg in U.S. Tennis Doubles Championship

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 29.—The final round of the men's national tennis doubles will be played at Longwood to-morrow.

In the semi-finals yesterday George Lott and John Doeg, the defending champions, defeated Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter. The British champions, Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, overcame another New Jersey combination, Gregory Mangin and Berkeley Bell.

Lott is also a member of the defending championship team in the mixed doubles and he and his partner, Betty Nuthall, the British star, who won the United States women's singles title last Sunday, must win two matches to-day to gain the last round. They encounter Helen Marlowe, Los Angeles, and Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Calif., in the quarter finals and, if successful, face Edith Morrill, Deaneham, Mass., and Frank Shields, New York, in the semi-finals.

Big League Clubs Will Get Into Action To-morrow: Newcomers Draw Attention

Historic Clubs Like Everton and Burnley Are Missing From First Division

London, Aug. 29.—The thud of football will resound with the crack of the cricket bat in the air in England on Saturday, when all the big league clubs will get into action for the first time this season. Scotland started the ball rolling three weeks ago.

Naturally, a good deal of attention will be paid to the performances of the newcomers to the first division of the English League. Blackpool, it has been given a hard task as they must meet the cup winners, Arsenal, though the struggle will take place at Blackpool. Chelsea have got off lighter, their opponents being Grimsby Town. The pensioners must play away from town.

HISTORIC CLUBS MISSING
Such historic clubs as Everton and Burnley, who were demoted from the first division at the end of last season, will begin their attempted comeback in the second division games. Everton will go to Plymouth, where they meet newcomers to this division. Plymouth won the southern section of the third division last season. Burnley will be at home to Bury and should win.

Charlie Root Is Lost to Chicago With Injured Arm

Relay Thunder Goes West

LILLIAN PALMER
LILLIAN'S VICTORY IN THE 60 AND 100 METRE INTERMEDIATE FINALS AT THE BRITISH EMPIRE GAMES ALONG WITH THE VANCOUVER RELAY TEAMS SUCCESS MAKES THINGS MUCH MORE INTERESTING IN EASTERN CANADA

The girls' Canadian championships at the British Empire Games brought some interesting facts to light. From the results one would think the field of champions is well divided over the Dominion. However, from British Columbia come some real threats. The relay team knocked the relay crown from the hands of the eastern team. The Vancouver team is young but inexperienced. They've got the goods. Lillian Palmer, the attractive little Vancouver sprinter, leaped right into the limelight when she captured both the 60 and 100-metre intermediate finals. She figured prominently also in the victory of the Commerce girls of that city, who held a lead to best out Myrtle Cook, McGowan, although the Montreal sprinter was at the top of the form that made her one of the greatest girl filers the game has known.

Mrs. O. S. Hill Reaches Semis in Western Golf
Kansas City, Aug. 29.—Sub par golf was streaked again yesterday by Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, as she won her quarter-finals match in defence of her women's western golf title. The breaks of the game helped the champion at crucial moments in subduing the western open titleholder, Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, 3 and 2.

In the semi-finals yesterday Mrs. Hill had as opponent Miss Dorothy Page, Madison, Wis., who eliminated another golf luminary, Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, 3 and 1, in a grueling match.
Mrs. Gregg Liffur, Los Angeles, the only Californian left in the tournament, had the biggest advantage of the men, had a 4 and 3 margin over Miss Betty Bruen, Kansas City, and to-day meets Mrs. G. W. Tyson, Kansas City, who won from Miss Florence Beebe, Chicago, one up.

SHOOTING WITH SHUTE
DENNY SAUTE
There should be a delay in the Pivot So That It Follows Rather Than Precedes Swing of the Arms.

In a recent article I asserted that some players apparently try to hit the ball with their body by starting both their backswing and downswing with a body movement. The main thing in making a wood or iron shot is to keep the body out of the swing as much as possible. The pivot should be the natural result of moving the arms and club back and then down in the swing. There would be no pivot if it were possible to swing the arms back and down without a body twist.

With a majority of players, the trouble comes after the club has gone back in the backswing. As the club is poised momentarily for the downswing, the player, unconsciously no doubt, turns his body to hasten the downswing in his eagerness to hit the ball and to hit it hard.

Timing is the difference between a good shot and a poor one. You are hitting too soon if you let your body rush the downswing. If you delay the hit and let the body come through following the arms, the result is much more distance with less effort.

FIGHTERS AND MANAGERS OUT

Hudkins, McVey and Managers and Max Baer and Officials All Suspended

San Francisco, Aug. 29.—Ace Hudkins, so-called "Nebraska Wildcat," now of Los Angeles, and Jack McVey, negro middleweight, of New York, were indefinitely suspended by the State Athletic Commission yesterday for taking part in an unsatisfactory bout in Los Angeles last Tuesday night.

Witnesses of the fight, called before the commissioners, described it as "disgraceful."
The fighters' purses were forfeited by the state. Hudkins' share had amounted to $5,000, while McVey's was to have been around $1,200.

The bout was stopped in the ninth round by Lieut. Jack Kennedy and declared no contest.

Clyde Hudkins, manager of Ace, and Maurice Cain, manager of McVey, also were indefinitely suspended.

Frank Doran, of Los Angeles, chief boxing inspector of the southern California district, submitted his resignation, to take effect September 1 next. He gave no reason for his action.

The commission concluded its meeting by suspending everyone connected with last Monday night's fight here between Max Baer and Frankie Campbell, in which Campbell suffered a beating resulting in his death the following day.

CROATIAN WOMEN MAKE PLEA FOR WIDE SYMPATHY

Ask International Council of Women to Take Up Case of Tortured Political Prisoners
Victoria Organizations Receive Copy of Moving Appeal For Redress

A number of women's organizations in the city have received a moving communication addressed by the Croatian women in Yugoslavia to the International Council of Women, alleging the perpetration of atrocities by Yugoslav police against imprisoned Croats and appealing to the women "for full understanding and consideration of our troubles and sorrow."

FOUGNANT APPEAL

After a long recital of their grievances the women conclude: "The quoted brutalities and atrocities must revolt all those who have human feeling and a feeling for the sufferings of others, but as for us Croatian women, wives, mothers, sisters and brides, it drives us to despair. That is why we appeal to you fellow-women, to your council as the mondial parliament of women, to you who are equal mothers, wives, sisters or brides. We beg you with all our hearts to raise your voice of protest and indignation before the whole cultured world, to utter your holy cry, so as to awaken the slumbering spirit of humanity and to put an end to the infernal conditions under which the highly-cultured Croat actually has to exist. We make this appeal in the name of Croatian women, unable to stand up publicly, owing to the actual circumstances in Yugoslavia."

The preamble states: "After the horrible murder of the Croatian deputy, in Belgrade, on June 20, 1929, King Alexander realized the impossibility of breaking down the opposition of the Croat nation. With his coup d'état, carried out on January 6, 1929, he overthrew the constitution, proclaimed himself an absolute monarch and transferred the agenda of government to General Petar Zivkovich. All the important Croatian, political, cultural and humanitarian societies and institutions had to be wound up and were forbidden by legislation."

PRISONERS TORTURED
What the Belgrade dictatorship aims at is the destruction of the Croat nation, and they go to work thoroughly: Croatian protests which naturally ensued, had only the effect that innocent Croats have been arrested since the proclamation of the dictatorship."

The appeal goes on to describe "cases stated and proved to demonstrate the atrocities committed by Zagreb police on political prisoners, accused at the actual big trial of the Belgrade Extraordinary Tribunal, the Defence of the State against Goats: Hand and feet of political prisoners are put into heavy iron chains. After that their hands are tied behind their backs and their heads are bound until blood runs from their mouths and noses. Their naked toes are their whole bodies ill-treated with kicks and beatings with fists. Then the tortured prisoners are thrown upon the ground and their bound hands tied to their feet with cords and their naked soles, beaten with whips until they bleed." An excessive amount of cotton mixtures are cited of prisoners who succumbed to such treatment. Individual cases of suffering are also described in terrible detail, including the suffering and indignities inflicted upon the widow and daughter of a former Croatian officer.

Nun Celebrates Fifty Years Of Work For Church

Canadian Press
Kitchener, Ont., Aug. 29.—Mother Evangelista, Mother Superior of St. Agatha's Orphanage, for the past 50 years, has just celebrated fifty years of service in holy orders. Appropriate ceremonies were held in the church. The mother entered the church wearing a wreath of thorns entwined with fifty years of devotion to holy work. She was born in Rochester, N.Y., as Barbara Kinsky. She spent one year in Milwaukee, Wis., after taking her holy vows and then came to New Germany Parish, near the city, where she had labored thirty-nine years.

HUNTER'S SHIRT MUST BE ROOMY

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN
In selecting a hunter's shirt, make certain there has been no skimping in the cutting of the cloth and that there is a generous allowance in length and width and roominess all over the garment.
Outing shirts of the best grade are made of woolen fabric; others are of wool and cotton mixtures. An excessive amount of cotton can be detected by feeling the material. Wool is warm, whereas cotton, by contrast, is cold and clammy to the touch, and this fabric lacks the resiliency of all-wool materials. There is, of course, a marked difference in price between woolen shirts and wool-and-cotton mixtures.

A firm which conducted free buses to its sales has now gone a step further. Mrs. Smith, living, say, seven miles out, may telephone for a taxi to proceed to the sale so admirably advertised by his sale and therefore ever-prosperous house. She will pay half fare only; the house will pay the other half. So, of course, with all other suburbs. It is an eighteen-penny fare the passenger will pay; if ten shillings, she will pay five.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. An enjoyable impromptu musical programme occupied the earlier part of the evening, and later supper was served, the table being decorated with pink and lavender sweet peas, cosmos and fern, with pink candles. Donations were used for the decoration of the music room.

Mrs. D. J. Miller entertained at her home, 1409 Amphion Street, Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. L. Mauley, of Shelton, Washington, and Mrs. Jack Miller, an August bride. A delightful miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Miss Madeleine Sluggitt by the girls of the Department of Agriculture at the home of Miss Violet Brakes on Wednesday evening. The many gifts poured out of a large horn-of-plenty of pastel shades. The color scheme for the evening was mauve and yellow, the flowers being mauve asters and golden glow. Suspended from the chandelier was a silver horse shoe under which the guest of honor sat to open her gifts, and from this were strung many streamers in pastel shades. The girls were fastened to the corners of the table. The evening was spent in playing games and singing, after which dainty refreshments were served on a table prettily decorated in mauve and yellow. Those present were the Misses Madeleine Sluggitt, Violet Brakes, Molly Larkcom, Enis Clarke, Joan Ridgway, Marie Marquardt, Molly Corcoran, M. Drummond, Lydia Clark, Vera Bickie, Dorothy Jewkes, Florence Brookes, Alma Hill, Evelyn Warburton and Mrs. Brakes.

Big Wedding In England Recalls Indian Romance

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 29.—A Red Indian princess's romance of three centuries ago was recalled by the wedding in the village church at Chesham, Surrey, of Dr. Ronald S. Harward, of Odiham, Hants, to Miss Margaret Lillian Gaston, of Chesham.

Dr. Harward, says The Morning Post, is the son of Rev. R. C. Harward, English chaplain at Leylin, Switzerland, and Mrs. Harward. His bride is descended from Princess Pocahontas, of Virginia, who died during a visit to England in 1616, and was buried in St. George Church, Gravesend, but when it was destroyed by fire the remains disappeared, and their whereabouts are an unsolved mystery.

When Captain John Smith, of Wiltshire, was condemned to death by his father the princess flung her body between him and his executioners and saved his life. Later she was told that he was dead, and she married a young planter. She came to England the following year, and died at Gravesend, where her hero was still living.

Honeymoon By Air Now Fashion

Canadian Press
London, Eng., Aug. 29.—Honeymoons by anything so common-place as a train or ship are now "rightfully old-fashioned," says The Daily Mail. A journey to Paris by air is the only fitting beginning to a modern wedding tour. A Croydon official, says that honeymoon couples are departing and arriving almost daily. Brides are arriving from church still in their wedding gowns and veils, blushing as they are pelted with confetti while boarded with plane, which is usually decorated with flowers, but nobody has yet attempted to tie a lucky old shoe to the tailskid.

FINE DISTRICT EXHIBITION AT LANGFORD HALL

Flowers, Vegetables and Domestic Arts Provided Notable Display on Wednesday

Mrs. J. D. Gordon, provincial president of Women's Institutes, on Wednesday afternoon opened the Langford district flower show at the Women's Institute Hall, Dunford Road, and congratulated the executive and members on the splendid exhibits. Mrs. Gordon was introduced by Mrs. Dan Malcolm, president of the Langford Women's Institute.

The hall was decorated with the institute colors, yellow and green, and health posters by school pupils attracted much attention. A beautiful exhibit of flowers and fruit, staged by the Victoria Horticultural Society, under the management of Miss L. M. A. Savory, attracted many questions regarding the aims and objects of the society and proved a distinct asset to the show.

Tea was served in a large marquee lent by the Department of Agriculture, under the convener'ship of Mrs. Henry Pike, Mrs. N. O. Johnston and Mrs. A. B. Bown, and ice cream was dispensed by Mrs. G. Eldridge and Mrs. W. Hamilton.

Mrs. George Alkman conducted the home cooking table and home-made candy was sold by Mrs. R. F. Reynolds, captain of the Girl Guides, assisted by Guides Eleanor Peatt, Pamela Bennett and Elizabeth Welch.

The work table was presided over by Mrs. Dan Malcolm. Exhibits of fancy work by the Misses Wilson and Mrs. W. Hamilton, also a dainty display of novelties by Mrs. W. M. Maxam proved of interest.

Blackberries donated by W. T. Dixon were won by Charles Baynes and Stanley Turner won the tomato. Mrs. T. W. Bridley was at the mystery table.

Exhibits in all classes were more numerous than usual, and of a high standard. Mrs. Gordon and Miss L. M. A. Savory judged the entries, and the prizes will be given at the September meeting of the Women's Institute. The directors extend thanks to all who helped in making the affair successful.

TARKINGTON HAS EYE TROUBLE

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 29.—Booth Tarkington, Indiana novelist, is at the Johns Hopkins Hospital because of his recurrent eye trouble, but hospital officials to-day denied a report he was in immediate danger of losing his sight. Mr. Tarkington has been a sufferer with defective sight for several years.

MOTHER OF THREE IN AIR DERBY

Small amounts of vegetables can be used in cream soups to advantage. A cup of vegetable pulp will make cream soup for four, but would not do for four if merely served in butter.

The serving of the whole meal is most important. The best china and glass, linen and silver add dignity to the simplest meal.

DAILY MENU

Luncheon—Cream of spinach soup, toasted, bread sticks, stuffed tomato, salad, blueberry bread pudding, milk, tea or lemonade.

Dinner—Mutton chops, rice potatoes, new turnips in cream, orange salad, blackberry, sorbet, coconut nut cakes, milk, coffee.

Cucumber Salad

Thinly sliced cucumbers, jelly in a lemon gelatin to which a little onion juice has been added, make a nice summer salad.

Feather Trim

A black soft felt hat, with cushion brim, has a rear ornament made of black and white pastel ostrich feathers.

SOCIETY FLIER—Afternoon teas and bridge parties had to wait until Mildred Morgan, above, Beverly Hills, Calif., society matron, crossed the finish line in the women's air derby from Long Beach to Chicago. Mrs. Morgan, wife of Thomas E. Morgan, vice-president of the Pickwick bus corporation, is the mother of three children.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Storer will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

WHAT SHOULD COMPRISE THE MID-AFTERNOON LUNCH?

A new crop of problems matures for the mother at the beginning of school. Midmeal lunches have been more or less the whim of the child who ate his three meals a day during the summer and nibbled between times as his appetite demanded. Most of us discover that despite more rest and perfect freedom to run and play in the open air, the child gains in height during the summer season but seldom in weight. He usually ends up the summer healthy and brown but thin as a pencil.

What can the mother give the child as an after school lunch that won't spoil his appetite for a hearty dinner and still fill out those ill-covered bones?

A DIETIC EXPERIMENT

Some years ago an interesting experiment was carried on with three groups of children and a control group. These children were fed at the family tables for all three meals, and got unselected food at these particular meals. The children were, therefore, under difficult diet conditions in each family, but they were alike in one particular. All the children were thin and under-nourished.

The experimenter divided the groups into four parts. One group was given four pulled figs to eat in the middle of the afternoon. The second group was given a glass of milk to drink. The third group was given a whole orange to eat. The fourth had nothing at all.

The youngsters built their own teeter, using a high sawhorse to which they had bolted a large plank. They also provided sleeping quarters, having been banished on each end.

They were going strong, when their jealous neighbor tumbled them off. Observers said, "The Stenberg home Saturday and Sunday."

BOY'S PUSH ENDS TEETER TOTTER MARATHON TRY

Albany, Aug. 29.—After 23 hours and 20 minutes start towards a world's endurance "teeter totter" record, Maxine and Clinton Stenberg, cousins, aged 12 and 14, were tumbled to the ground by a neighbor boy who gave Clinton a shove. The youngsters had started teetering on the Saturday and had been reticulated by Maxine's brother Mervin, who looked after Clinton, and Mrs. Roy Stenberg, who looked after her daughter.

The youngsters built their own teeter, using a high sawhorse to which they had bolted a large plank. They also provided sleeping quarters, having been banished on each end.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Every housekeeper has had the experience of having a visitor on the very day there's hash for dinner and no dessert, and not a minute's time to run to the market.

To this end it's very much worth while to keep some "stock" company menus and recipes written down in black and white in an easily accessible place. A scrap book, card index or loose leaf note book should have a section devoted to "Company-Emergency Menus and Recipes."

As to the hash, if the meat is veal or a fine cut of beef and there is time, why not make timbales and serve the potatoes au gratin or in a cream sauce? If they are served with the timbales, the hash is necessary, try serving it on toast with a poached egg dropped into a small depression on each portion.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR DESSERT

Hot biscuits and preserves often can be made to take the place of a dessert and always are well liked. Baking powder biscuits mixed up and popped into the oven will bake while the table is being set. Warm ginger bread is another popular dessert that is quick and easy. At this time of year, apple sauce and ginger bread made a delicious dessert.

When food must be stretched to serve more than were originally planned for, it is advantageous to cream it on toast. Often hard cooked eggs can be added to increase the quantity.

Fritters are another excellent emergency dish. Corn or apple fritters served with maple syrup eke out the main course and make an elaborate dessert unnecessary. They must be served hot and can well be made after the guest arrives.

Small amounts of vegetables can be used in cream soups to advantage. A cup of vegetable pulp will make cream soup for four, but would not do for four if merely served in butter.

Christian Endeavor Ends Berlin Meet As 15,000 Pledge Selves

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The last day of the eighth World Christian Endeavor Congress was marked by services in nearly all the Berlin churches to which the delegates from forty-two nations thronged and by an enthusiastic meeting in the evening, the closing session of the congress, to which more than 15,000 came to take leave of one another and pledge themselves to carry on the work of the society in their respective lands.

In a statement at the close of the congress, Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, president of the World Christian Endeavor Union, said:

"We have opened a new epoch in the youth movement of the Christian Church, I believe. Our organization is active in 112 lands. Eighty thousand one hundred and seven societies are reported."

"Germany's welcome to this army of the Christian Endeavor members has been spontaneous and unqualified. Everywhere we have been treated well. President von Hindenburg's welcome and our talk with him were particularly significant. His life motto, 'Oratio Labora' (worship and work) became the convention message."

"In the final hour of dedication these representatives of 4,000,000 young people vowed themselves against all inter-racial and social injustice, all sectarianism and Protestant division, all lawlessness and selfish nationalism and all attacks on the movement toward disarmament."

It is in this spirit, Dr. Poling said, that the congress is closing and the delegates returning home.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—Delegates of many nationalities to the world conference of the Christian Endeavor Union proceeded in ten groups along the streets of Berlin singing sacred songs to the accompaniment of guitars.

Speeches in the different languages of the delegates were delivered at important corners, alternating with serenades by brass bands, and were translated in German.

Banker Otto Kahn Speaks Publicly For First Time On Economic Outlook

By LAURENCE STERN

New York, Aug. 29.—In the last year Wall Street has had abundant reason for adopting a sceptical attitude toward the optimistic public utterances of its financial leaders. The majority obviously have proved wide of the mark.

A discussion of the economic situation by Otto H. Kahn, however, is of interest, both because this eminent financier has not made the mistake of talking too much or at the wrong time, and because the conservative views of his firm during the last several years have been so soundly related to the actualities now apparent to all.

Mr. Kahn's summary, given partial publication and now being privately circulated by a "Committee of American Business Men," deserves more widespread notice than it has yet received. Of especial interest are the following points:

"Consumption and production in many lines appear to be reaching a stage of reasonable equilibrium in our country. Indeed, authoritative statistics recently published seem to indicate that, for the time being, in some branches of trade, we find ourselves in a state of actual underproduction, i.e., producing less than we consume. To the extent that such a state of affairs exists, it cannot continue for any great length of time and is apt to undergo a sudden change.

"Some raw materials and some commodities are selling at or below the cost of production. That means that we are in the midst of a process which, by the workings of economic law, should prove effectively curative after a while, even though instances go on to mind where, owing to peculiar circumstances, production has gone on without profit, or even at a loss, for a prolonged period.

"Money is abundant to an extent the like of which we have not experienced for many years. It is true that, not infrequently in the past, we have seen weak markets with easy money and 'bull' markets with tight money, but it is likewise true and of more profound significance that the driving power of abundant money, if continued for a sufficient length of time, is a strongly stimulating factor in its general effects, just as very tight money, if continued for a sufficient length of time, is an irresistibly depressing factor.

GOLD SUPPLY PASSED PEAK
"Of course the boom of easy money can be overdone and lead to undesirable results, if artificially stimulated as was done a few years ago. It is to be hoped that the Federal Reserve Board while continuing to encourage easy money conditions, will carefully refrain from action which might tend to overstimulate the supply of money and of funds, and that it will exercise its influence rather in the direction of which eliminate materials through the skin, and by a change in diet so as to throw less stress on the kidney.

In every one of the conditions in which acidosis develops, attention must be given to the water exchange and it must be seen that the patient has a sufficient amount of water to take care of all of the factors that have been mentioned in the discussions of water.

There exists the possibility of correcting the acid state to some extent by the use of foods that tend more toward the alkaline side. There are many foods which have value for this purpose. They include particularly peaches, oranges, potatoes, peaches, cantaloupe, celery, carrots, beets and lima beans. There are other foods which tend particularly toward the production of acid. Among them are bread, eggs, meats, oysters, oatmeal and rice.

If severe acidosis is present, the person must be kept absolutely at rest and care must be taken to see that he is kept warm.

The opposite condition to acidosis is alkalosis. This occurs very rarely and usually because the person has been taking too much alkali or too much baking soda or bicarbonate of soda to overcome what he thinks is an acid condition. Many people who suffer occasionally from acidity of the stomach or from hyperacidity, take immense quantities of soda for the correction of the condition. Obviously alkalosis can easily be controlled by cutting down on the amount of alkalis being taken both in the form of drugs and foods.

When alkalosis is due to excessive breathing, such as rarely occurs in hysteria or nervous diseases or other disease, the patient may be given air to breathe which contains an abnormal large amount of carbon dioxide until the system is brought under control.

Perpetual Motion

"Suppose," he murmured, "that I should steal another kiss?"
"I defy you!" she replied.
"And suppose," he persisted, "that I should steal two or three?"
"I would never give up," she replied.
"I would go on defying you."

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. (Adv.)

"SATADA" TEA

'Fresh from the gardens'

stock market, it may be appropriate to quote a recently reported remark of one of the ablest of British economists. Sir Josiah Stamp, in the course of an interview relating to conditions in America, to the effect that, in judging the value of a stock, the earnings of one particular year are of relatively small importance, and that the basis for determining intrinsic value is the record of earnings over a series of years past, plus a soundly reasoned estimate of earnings fairly to be expected over a series of years to come.

"Another consideration too apt to be overlooked in times of depression is the elementary fact that, for every one who had to, or chose to, sell, there was some one who had the means and the faith to buy. It is a most impressive demonstration of the inherent strength, resisting power and financial capacity of America that the huge outpouring of stocks which set in last October and on a less vast scale has been repeated at intervals numerous times since, together with much other liquidation, has all been absorbed in an orderly and natural manner, except on a few days of simply overwhelming offerings.

"The record that under the tremendous strain of a crisis of such intensity not a single failure of any magnitude has taken place, is probably unprecedented.

"I will not venture upon an estimate as to the time when our present business depression will have completed its allotted course and the elements making for the return to normal conditions in America will have asserted themselves effectively. Meanwhile, it is well to recall that we have been through similar periods of test and trial before and that the best guide for forecasting America's future is America's past."

FOREST SERVICE DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR

WOMAN SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED TWO MURDERS

Bremerton, Wash., Aug. 29.—Deputy Sheriff A. D. Corlis yesterday evening said Mrs. Julia Lee Christenson, thirty-six, had confessed the killing of her husband, O. L. Christenson, and John Higgar at the Christenson home near Paulabo last Tuesday afternoon. The men were moonshiners. The two men were shot down as they were in a root-house about 150 feet from the Christenson house. Christenson was found to have been shot three times and Higgar once. Both were apparently instantly killed. Mrs. Christenson married Christenson, who was twenty-seven years her senior, about a month ago over the objections of her family, she said. Higgar, about sixty, began working with Christenson on the day he was killed. She said she had attempted to get her husband to abandon moonshining, but without success. Until yesterday evening, however, she had steadfastly denied the shooting.

Chemical Analysis Is Vital Treatment of Acidosis

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

In its advance into the unknown, scientific medicine has taken advantage of the work of the chemist for determining exactly the acid condition of the human body. The technical methods are extremely intricate and can be performed only by laboratory investigators and chemists who have had special training. They reveal definitely the exact extent of the acidosis from which the patient may be suffering and indicate also the nature of the treatment that must be used to overcome the condition. Obviously, when acidosis occurs in diabetes or in Bright's disease, attention must be directed to improve the work of the organs that are weak; namely, the pancreas and the kidney. The work of the pancreas is improved by the giving of insulin and by changing the diet. The work of the kidney is improved by the use of sweat baths,

VICTORIANS RETURN ON TWO LINERS

Holiday and Tour Parties Back From Orient and United Kingdom To-day

Slightly overdue the Furness motor liner Pacific liner docked at the Outer Wharf here at 10.30 o'clock this morning, bringing back seven Victorians from a lengthy trip to the United Kingdom. A large amount of general cargo was also discharged before the vessel continued on her way to Vancouver.

Aboard the Yokohama Maru eight Victorians returned to the city shortly after 12.30 to-day after a tour of the Orient, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Palmer. The local party, along with one other person, composed the entire list of first class passengers.

On July 9 the group left this city aboard the liner Korea Maru.

THRONE SPEECH BEING DRAFTED

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—At a meeting starting at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the cabinet will clear the decks of all departmental and routine matters requiring consideration. To-morrow, Premier B. B. Bennett will be back from western Canada and the cabinet will meet again in the morning or afternoon for its third sitting of the week. Sir George Perley, Acting Prime Minister, will preside at to-day's gathering around the council table.

The throne and the throne speech measure to be introduced will be given considerable attention during the next few days. Both will be brief in content. With the provision of work for the unemployed as the theme of the coming session, the sitting next month is not expected to last longer than two weeks. Suggestions the session may continue into November and that the Prime Minister may depart to attend the Imperial Conference, leaving the leadership of the government in the hands of one of his colleagues, are given little credence in political circles well informed.

TOMMY WELLBURN MAY LOSE SIGHT IN ONE EYE

"You never know when you're going to get it," said Tommy Wellburn to a friend in the St. Joseph's Hospital when he visited there on Tuesday night.

Less than twelve hours later he was occupying the same bed that his friend had had. Wellburn, well known in local circles for his swimming activities, was struck in the left eye by a flying knot when a rope broke at the McMillan Export Lumber Camp on Wednesday.

The injury is quite serious and his doctor stated that there is only a faint chance he will regain sight in the injured eye. Wellburn is noted for his swimming prowess, having held two Canadian records when he was active in the Victoria Swimming Club.

MAN IS FOUND SHOT IN HOME

Bernard E. Dobree Discovered Dead in Basement of His House

Bernard E. Dobree, 1739 Second Street, found shot in the basement of his home to-day.

Police, who responded to a call at 12.15 o'clock, found the man dead. Investigation is being made as to whether or not C. Hart had been notified, the remains were removed to Curry's funeral parlors where an inquest may be held.

Last Friday evening, Mr. Dobree, who was a watchman at the Shell Oil Company's plant on the industrial reserve, was discovered by his wife in an unconscious condition, having been overcome by gas fumes.

SAFE DRIVERS' CLUB IS URGED BY P. C. ABELL

Committee of Service Clubs to Discuss Subject at Meeting Next Week

Following an address by Percy Abell, manager of the B.C. Safety League on "Traffic Problems," the service clubs' executives to-day passed a motion expressing their alarm at the increase in the number of automobile accidents in the Province and making provision for a committee to discuss this problem. Two delegates from each service club and from the Victoria Automobile Club will meet in the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, September 5, at 5.15 o'clock.

Mr. Abell had suggested the formation of an influential body of local citizens to organize a Victoria Safe Drivers' branch. The proposed plan of action includes a letter writing campaign to traffic offenders, unobserved by the police along the same lines as those of the Vancouver Traffic Club. The speaker quoted figures to show the alarming increase in traffic accidents in the province in recent years and then demonstrated how this trend had been partly checked by the actions of the Safety League in Vancouver.

"In 1929 there were an average of 1,620 traffic accidents per month in Vancouver," he stated. "The introduction of traffic lights in the downtown district has helped to make automobile drivers 'safety-conscious' while a more rigid enforcement of the law has proved more productive of results than the educational campaign formerly employed to curb the accident rate."

"Traffic accidents in Victoria are increasing at an alarming rate," he said, "and the formation of a Safe Drivers' Club would undoubtedly do much to remedy this state of affairs. Letters would be written to all those violating the regulations, and if the same results were attained as in Vancouver, there would be an immediate decrease in the number of casualties."

Vancouver and Rochester, N.Y., had the lowest per capita traffic death rates on the continent, according to the speaker.

Representatives of the following clubs were present at the luncheon, with A. Carmichael, president of the Service Clubs' Council in the chair: Revellers, Kiwanis, Rotary, Kwantlen, Kinman and Victoria Automobile Club.

NEW UNREST IN FOUR REPUBLICS OF AMERICA

Uprising in Southern Brazil: Destroyers Arrive to Keep Order at Buenos Ayres

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Aug. 29.—Military and political unrest showed its effects to-day in four American republics, Brazil, Argentina, Cuba and Peru.

Advices from Montevideo said the Brazilian State of Rio Grande do Sul had been disturbed by a revolutionary movement headed by Juan Francisco de Sousa and that all federal troops had been confined to barracks.

Havana reported the government in readiness to proclaim martial law in Maximino Gomez, Matanzas, where rioting over political issues had not yet been quelled. The same dispatch said a score of politicians had been arrested at Cruces, Santa Clara, in a plot against the government.

Arrival of three destroyers at Buenos Ayres to-day strengthened the hand of the government of Argentina, threatened by insurgents. President Hipolito Yrigoyen did not emerge from the heavy guard of troops thrown around the government house and his residence yesterday. Buenos Ayres still was unable to explain the extreme measures and the consequence there were many rumors regarding the seriousness of the situation.

Peru's revolution, which ousted President Yrigoyen did not emerge from the heavy guard of troops thrown around the government house and his residence yesterday. Buenos Ayres still was unable to explain the extreme measures and the consequence there were many rumors regarding the seriousness of the situation.

REPORTS INVESTIGATED

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 29.—No confirmation of revolutionary unrest in the Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul was received here to-day, but investigation into such reports from Montevideo was under way.

Esquimalt Has Few Reverted Lots For Sale

High average of tax collection and strong indication that much more municipal revenue will be poured into the coffers of Esquimalt before the annual reverted lands sale on September 10 have given the council reason to believe very few lots will go under the hammer this year, according to word from the municipal hall to-day.

About eighty-five per cent. of this year's taxes have already been paid and a large amount of the remainder is expected to be collected before the sale. Approximately sixty lots will be on the market it is understood.

BROMLEY PLANE UNABLE TO RISE FOR OCEAN HOP

UNEMPLOYED SEEK STAND FROM MAYOR

Civic Head Urges All Men Out of Work to Register at Bureau Here

Registration of all unemployed in the city of Victoria at the office of the Employment Service of Canada, 1001 Langley Street, was urged by Mayor Ansonbom this morning following a meeting yesterday with a delegation of unemployed.

The delegation was named at a mass meeting of unemployed held Wednesday morning, and sought from the Mayor a definite statement of policy in regard to unemployment and registration of unemployed at the City Hall. A house to house canvass to determine the exact situation was also suggested.

The Mayor pointed out the Employment Service office was maintained for the very purpose of keeping track of the situation, and provided facilities for registration. As far as a house to house canvass was concerned, he expressed himself as opposed to such a course.

The council was carefully following the question of unemployment, he pointed out, and was awaiting results of the special session of parliament dealing with it.

After meeting the Mayor, the delegation interviewed the reeves of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

Reeve William Croucher, of Saanich, while refusing a house to house canvass, invited unemployed men who have resided in Saanich for more than six months, to register at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, or at the Municipal Store, Douglas Street. When providing relief, married men and their families would have prior claim over unemployed women, he said.

Bly with generally depressed conditions throughout Canada and in export markets. This situation is fully realized by those responsible for the establishing of values and there will be no inclination to unduly take advantage of the added assistance extended by the government.

"I do not feel it would be the desire of the Canadian consumer that the Canadian producer should be subjected to competition that would finally result in his complete elimination, for there is no doubt whatever that if the time should ever come when the Canadian consumer must depend entirely on foreign producers for fruits and vegetables, the price these necessities would cost him very much more than they do to-day and very much more than they would cost him if the present duty were to be continued as a definite arrangement. Competition among the different producing areas of Canada is sufficiently keen to keep prices at a reasonable level."

APPLE FREIGHT CHARGES CUT

Okanagan and Kootenay Orchards Get Concession on Export Shipments

Premier Tolmie Announces Compromise Reduction Terminates Negotiations

Railway freight charges on apples from the Okanagan and Kootenay districts to Vancouver, for all export markets, will be reduced 3½ cents and 30½ cents, respectively, a hundred pounds, as soon as the new schedules can be filed with the railway commission.

The new rate will be 34½ cents a hundredweight and will replace charges of 40 cents from Okanagan fruit and 65 cents from Creston, Nelson and other Kootenay points. The 35½ cent rate will also be effective on shipments destined to points such as New Zealand, which hitherto have not enjoyed the 49 cent rate effective on apples shipped to England, Japan and China.

Notification of the new schedule was received from Toronto by Attorney-General Pooley yesterday afternoon, in a telegram from Premier Tolmie, who reported reaching a compromise agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway after a year's negotiations.

The Premier sought a reduction to 28½ cents a hundredweight, which is the rate effective on United States lines between Wenatchee and Seattle.

GREATER MILEAGE

In his statement of the situation the Premier pointed out that the distance between the Washington apple districts and Seattle is 161 miles, and the rate of 28½ cents is exclusive of rehandling charges at Seattle.

The distance from Kelowna to Vancouver is 375 miles by the Canadian National and 414 miles by Canadian Pacific, and the new charge of 34½ cents includes handling charges at Vancouver.

It was believed that exact parity between Canadian and Washington rates would be promptly followed by reduction of the rates south of the boundary, losing to British Columbia fruit-growers the benefit anticipated in competition for foreign trade.

IT'S AN OLD FAMILY CUSTOM

to secure a complete list of all persons out of work in the district at its meeting yesterday evening.

An advertisement will be carried in local papers advertising unemployed to register at the municipal hall. No suggestion of relief measures was made during the meeting.

In Esquimalt a survey conducted by Reeve James Elrick, Municipal Engineer, H. F. Bourne and the police showed the municipality to have about 102 unemployed.

TODAY'S GAIN
MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Wheat: Opened about unchanged this morning with Liverpool a little firmer than due, but offerings were fairly liberal, and were being taken by seaboard houses with overnight export offers estimated at around 500,000 bushels.

The market held steady during the first part of the day, but later there was an upturn of about one and one-half cents from the previous close with shorts covering and the long holiday Winnipeg and American market closing to-day until Tuesday morning, and also due to a bullish private report on the corn crop, the total yield being placed at under 2,000,000,000 bushels of 50 and 60 cent and the government report of early July.

There was also a fair amount of buying here by Chicago interests. However, offerings quite liberal on the upturn, which filled up the demand, and the market eased off somewhat from its levels.

The weather continues mostly favorable in western Canada for harvesting operations, and splendid progress has been made. Thrashing returns from Saskatchewan are showing better yields than expected. Country marketings are increasing, and yesterday totalled 3,632,000 bushels, a little more than the previous day, but this pressure is still light, as farmers are reported to be selling only about twenty-five per cent of their deliveries. Total exports sales overnight and this morning were estimated at around 1,000,000 bushels.

There was a fairly good demand for most grades of cash wheat to-day, and with offerings not too light, the market was 1/4 to 1/2 better than the previous close, with a fair business being done in the higher grades. Millers also reported a better export business in flour.

Liverpool closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher, but Russia is reported still offering wheat freely. Winnipeg futures closed unchanged to 1/4 higher, having turned very weak during the last two morning sessions, with the bullion corn being denied by Chicago, but still corn closed about 2 cents higher.

Coarse grains: Oats and barley especially, were strong earlier in the day, but the full bulge was not held, the upturn, being practically all in sympathy with corn news and market. Local demand, both cash and futures, is still small, with only a light trade passing. No foreign inquiry.

Flax: Continued dull and featureless. No interest shown. Closing prices 1/4 lower to 1/4 up. Liverpool unchanged on Winnipeg market.

STOCKS CLOSE FIRM BEFORE TRIPLE HOLIDAY

Big Market Surprises By Developing Bullish Tone on Eve of Labor Day Vacation

Copper Industry Seen as Facing Competition From New Foreign Producers

New York, Aug. 29 (E.C. Bond).—At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 240.42, up 2.63 points for the day; for twenty rails at 151.22, up 1.32 points; and for twenty utilities at 86.76, up 1.12 points. Sales for the day totaled 1,856,900 shares. Call money held at 2 per cent.

Following firmness in the early transactions, the market to-day created something of a surprise, considering the coming holiday, by taking on a decidedly bullish tone, with hardly any apparent effort from the market makers ordinarily to be expected at such a time.

The advance averaged one and two points with several instances, such as Westinghouse Electric and General Electric, a feature in the strength was that it was shared in by issues representing companies with substantial interests in South America, despite the reports of a disturbed political condition in Peru and Argentina.

Among the news items favorably affecting the market was the report of increased car loadings by New York Central, which carried part of the weight, considering the fact that the road covers an important and extensive portion of the industrial section of the country. General Electric also reported an increase in employment at one of its important plants.

Consolidated Gas stood out among the utilities for its strength, which seemed to be a response to the report of yesterday's proceedings before the New York State Public Service Commission regarding the rates for electricity furnished by its subsidiary, the New York Edison Co. The company's stock advanced 1/2 point to 15 1/2.

NEW PLANTS OPEN AT TRAIL

Trail, Aug. 29.—The new $2,000,000 slag reclamation plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Tadoussac, which will save 100 tons of slag a day that has hitherto been unrecyclable, was put into operation to-day, together with the $600,000 zinc oxide bleaching plant, constructed to treat the zinc oxide produced by the slag plant.

The plant is the second of its kind in the world.

Woolworth has stood out in the merchandising division, working steadily higher to the best levels of the current recovery. Influential buying of Woolworth was based on knowledge of a substantial turn for the better in the company's business this month.

August, 1929, was an exceptionally prosperous period for Woolworth, recording a sales gain of 12 per cent over the corresponding period of 1928. For the reason the company's gross in August of this year will show some decrease in comparison with the decrease of 13 per cent reported for July, 1929, which is regarded as a remarkably good showing in view of the big sales expansion of August, 1929.

The Dancing Floor

By JOHN BUCHAN

Vernon gave her a sketch of the ritual of Kynaeoth. "It was your mentioning the name that brought it back to me. I have always been interested in Greek religion, and by an amazing chance I came on this only a month or so ago. Lettish—the lawyer—you know him, I think—gave me a bit of medieval Greek manuscript to translate, and part of it had this title, 'Lettish' she cried. 'Sir Edward? Then he found it among the papers I lent him. Why didn't he tell me about it?'

"I can't imagine." "Perhaps he thought I wouldn't have believed it. I wouldn't a month ago. Perhaps he thought he could prevent me coming here. I think he was right. I had to go off without saying good-bye to him, and he was my greatest friend."

"He happens to be also my closest friend if you had known about this—this crazy ritual, would you have come?"

She smiled. "I don't know. I'm very obstinate, and I can't bear to be bullied. These people are trying to bully me. But of course I didn't know how bad it was. . . . And I didn't know that I was going to land you in this mess. That is what weighs on my mind."

"But you didn't invite me here. You told me to clear out."

"My servants invited you, and therefore I am responsible. . . . On Colonel Milburne, you must understand what I feel. I haven't had an easy life, for I seem to have been always fighting, but I didn't want to do it myself. . . . Otherwise, don't you see, it makes the guilt of my family so much heavier. . . . And now I have let you in for it, and that is hell—simply hell!"

Vernon had suddenly an emotion which he had never known before—the exhilaration with which he had for years anticipated the culmination of his dream, but different, nobler, less self-regarding. He felt keyed up to any enterprise, and singularly confident. There was tenderness in his mood, too, which was a thing he had rarely felt—tenderness towards this galling child.

"Listen to me, Miss Arabin. I have two things to say to you. One is that I glory in being here. I wouldn't be elsewhere for the world. It is a delight and a privilege. The other is that we are going to win out."

"But how?"

"I don't know yet. We will find a way. I am as certain of it as that I am standing here. God doesn't mean a thing like this to be a blind cul-de-sac."

"You believe in God? I wish I did. I think I only believe in the Devil."

"Then you believe in God. If evil is a living thing, good must be living as well—more indeed, or the world would smother. . . . Look here, we're two days to put in together. There is nothing we can do for the present, so we must find some way to keep our nerves quiet. Let's pretend we're in an ordinary English country house and kept indoors by rain."

So the two of them made plans to pass the time, while the clear spring sunlight outside turned Vernon's presence into foolishness. They played piquet, and sometimes he read to her—chiefly Peter Beckford. The florid eighteenth-century prose, the tags of Augustan poetry, the high style, the rugged, carried their thoughts to the orderly world of home. I have no wish to speculate about the secrets of a friend, but I fancy that the slow hours spent together brought understanding.

Kore must have told him things which she had kept back from me, for the near prospect of death breaks down many barriers. I think, too, that he may have told her the story of his boyish dream—he must have, for it bore directly on the case. With his sense of predestination he would draw from it a special confidence, and she would be made to share it. He had undergone a long preparation for something which had ended in mist, but the preparation might point to success in a great reality. . . .

Late in the following afternoon old Mitri returned. Vernon saw him first alone, and got from him the details of the next evening's ceremonial. There was to be a race among the young men on the Dancing Floor as soon as the moon rose, and the victor would be called the King. Some of the news which Mitri had gathered was unexpected, some incomprehensible, but the main it agreed with his own version. The victor would choose a victim—a male victim, clearly, for the female victim was already chosen. The two would enter the House, and on the next night—the eve of this grim Easter—the sacrifice would be accomplished. Beyond that Mitri could say nothing except that the people looked for a mighty miracle; but the manuscript had told what the miracle would be.

"Who will be the runners?" Vernon asked.

"The fleetest among the young men, both of the village and the hills."

It was characteristic of Vernon's fatalism that he had not submitted to the thing he had undertaken of a plan till he had heard Mitri's tidings. Now the thing began to unfold itself. The next step at any rate was clearly ordained.

"Will everybody be known to each other?" he said.

"Faith, no. Kynaeoth till now has had few dealings with the hill folk, and the villages in the hills are generally at strife with each other. Tomorrow night there will be many strangers, and no questions will be asked for all will be allies in this devilry."

"Do I speak like a Greek?"

"You speak like a Greek, but like one from another island."

"And I look like an islander?"

Mitri grinned. "There are few as well-looking. But if your face were darkened, you would pass. There is a place, a little remote place in the hills, Akte by name, where the folk are said to have white skins like you, Signor."

"Well, attend, Mitri. I am a man from Akte, who has been at the wars, and has just returned. That will account for my foreign speech."

The Signor jests. He has a stout heart that can test me, and I'm in hard training."

"I'm not jesting. I am going to compete in the race to-morrow night. What is more, I'm going to win. I've been a bit of a runner in my time, and I'm in hard training."

A faint spark appeared in the old man's eye.

"The Signor will no doubt win if he runs. And if he ever reaches the Dancing Floor he will not be troubled with questions. But how will he reach the Dancing Floor?"

"I intend to get out of the House early to-morrow morning. There are several things I want to do before the dawn. Have you any rats with which I can imitate the dress of a hillman?"

Mitri considered. Shirt and breeches he had, but no boots. A cap might be improvised, but boots—

"Remember! I have only just returned to Akte, and have brought the fashion of the war with me. So I can make shift with home-made puttees. Anything else?"

"The men around the House will not let you pass."

"They'll have to. I'm one of themselves, and you've got to coach me in local customs. You have twelve hours before you in which to turn me into a respectable citizen of Akte. If any awkward questions are asked, I propose to be truculent. A soldier is going to stand no nonsense from civilians, you know."

Mitri considered again. "It will be best to go by the main road to Kynaeoth."

"No, I'm going by the causeway. I don't see what lies beyond it to the west."

"The cliffs are there, and there is no road."

Mitri found one. He had apparently little belief in the scheme, but an hour later, after Vernon had given Kore a sketch of his intentions, he arrived with an armful of strange garments. Else, at his mistress's request, had collected oddments of fabrics, and brought part of the contents of the linen-cupboard.

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily's Island

(Copyright, 1930)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Come on, Custer!" cried Buster to his brother as he started to hop so fast as he could. "Let's see if we can catch one!"

"One what?" asked Baby Bunty, who had leaped off the raft to the island as soon as the queer boat Uncle Wiggily had made touched the shore. "Let me catch one wiggily!"

"You don't want a monkey, you want an orange, a banana or a coconut," said Buster. "Girls don't want monkeys!"

"I do so want a monkey!" shouted Baby Bunty, hopping after the boy rabbits, who were now well up the island beach.

"So me," cried Jingle. "Save me a monkey!" yelled Jangle. "Here, Dad-dad-dad!" she said to her father, "you hold Wopple, Tootsie and Wootsie. I'm going to catch a monkey before the boys get 'em all!"

"Stop! All of you! Don't take another hop!" suddenly called Uncle Wiggily in a loud voice that even Buster and Custer, who were quite a distance away, stopped and turned around. "As for you, Jingle and Jangle, went on Mr. Longears, 'you must help me take care of the little ones—look after Tootsie, Wootsie and Wopple until I can make our raft boat fast on this island. And don't you boys go chasing off after monkeys. I tell you! I tell you! I tell you! the rabbit gentleman."

"Well, oranges roll down hill and then you can chase 'em," said Custer. "And so do coconuts."

"No chasing after anything or going away until I find out where we are and what sort of a place this is!" Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose backward, which he did when he was excited, as he was now, "I must find out where we are!"

"Why, Uncle Wiggily," spoke Bunty using all the baby talk she was allowed to, "we are shipwrecked on a desert island just like you said we might be."

"Yes, I suppose we are shipwrecked on an island all right," agreed Mr. Longears, looking at the heap of sand rising out of the ocean, where the raft had bumped.

"And can't we gather oranges and bananas and coconuts?" asked Jingle. "I'm hungry, Daddecums!"

"I want to catch a monkey!" cried Buster.

"Quiet, please," begged the bunny gentleman. "As soon as I make the raft fast and find out where we are, for a time, you can have all the fun you want. But I don't like to have you chasing all over an unknown island after monkeys or coconuts until I see what sort of a place this is. And some of you older girls must help me look after your little sisters, for we haven't mother and Nurse Jane with us now, you see."

This was true enough. As Uncle Wiggily had been on a raft anchored out from shore not far from his summer seaweed bungalow cottage. All of a sudden the raft went adrift, for Buster loosened the anchor rope. The wind blew on a big, open umbrella that Uncle Wiggily held like a sail. Then, after a while, the raft sped ashore on an ocean island. The children rabbits, hoping for something like this, had been talking about catching monkeys and gathering coconuts, oranges and bananas, which ways grow on desert islands where anyone is shipwrecked.

After Uncle Wiggily had quieted his happy, jolly bunny boys and girls, and had given the little rabbit, Wopple, Tootsie and Wootsie, in charge of Jingle and Jangle, the rabbit gentleman made another rope of seaweed and carefully tied the big, flat boat to a tree growing near shore. In doing this Uncle Wiggily jiggled the tree a bit and something big and brown fell with a thud in the sand near him.

"Oh, Daddecums! Look! You shook down a coconut!" cried Buster.

"Goodie! Goodie!" shouted Jingle, and she forgot to keep hold of Wopple's paw so the little rabbit slid under Wootsie. But the sand was soft and she didn't get hurt. "Coconuts! Coconuts!" yelled Jingle.

"Yes, and look over there! I see an orange tree!" cried Jangle.

"Oh, what a lovely place!" said Baby Bunty. "I'm glad we got shipwrecked here instead of on some other island. I wonder if there are any bananas too?"

"That looks like one back of the coconut tree," said Custer. "I'm going to take a look. Come on, Buster!" he yelled.

But Buster gave a shout of his own and yelled:

"Oh, look! There's a monkey and he's going to throw a coconut at us. Look out, everybody!" Burely enough there was a monkey in the tree.

Do you think you can stop the egg beater from turning somersaults in the strawberry shortcake? Well, if you can, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's island surprise.

Dorothy Dix

A METROPOLITAN newspaper has enlightened the silly season by asking its men readers what sort of woman they like, and a surprisingly large number have expressed a preference for silent women.

I hope no unsophisticated maiden, seeking to make herself attractive to the opposite sex, will take this reply seriously. There isn't a vestige of truth in it, and any girl who thinks to make a hit with men by emulating the close-mouthed clam will find herself worse off than a clam, for she will be stranded and no man will take the trouble to dig her out of her shell.

Of course, there is a traditional theory among men that women talk too much, and that they object to women's gabble, and that the world, and especially the married state, would be a lot pleasanter and more peaceful place in which to dwell if all females were born without tongues. But this is merely theory with no facts to bolster it up. In reality, men don't like silent women and they avoid them as if they had the plague.

You never see a girl who is a Dumb Dora who is popular with the boys and all dated up weeks ahead. She may be as pretty as a picture and a good dancer and a swell dresser and have a nifty roadster of her own and a mother who is a good booster and possess all the appurtenances that should make her a social success, but if she has no conversational line she is sunk.

No youth will drag about a girl who just sits up like a knot on a log, and who merely gives evidence of being alive by occasionally uttering a monosyllable or two, and then passing back into the silence. It's not any young man's idea of spending a pleasant evening to work like a coal heaver doing a monologue for the benefit of a young woman who doesn't even feed him a few cues.

In other countries men take the lead in conversation and entertain the women, but the American man is spoiled and he expects his women to do the talking and to amuse and divert him. Look about you at any dinner party and at any ball, or in the pauses in between the acts at the theatre. Isn't it always the woman who is keeping the conversation running? The woman who is trying to be bright and sparkling and vivacious and keep the man interested, while he is sitting back with an expression on his face that says as plainly as print: "Talk on, girlie, entertain me if you can, for I am not going to exert myself to entertain you."

No. The shells don't mob the girls with never a word to say for themselves and vie with each other in giving the silent ones a good time. They pass them up and leave them to self-communion at home while they rush the chatterers who can twitter along by the yard about nothing.

Nor do men really esteem silence as such a virtue in their wives as they profess to do. Naturally, if one is unlucky enough to be married to a nagger, he wishes she had been born dumb. There are times and seasons, such as when his wife is reminding him of his mistakes and calling attention to his shortcomings, when every husband feels that if there were some way of gagging wives it would do more than any other one thing to make marriage a success and keep men from wishing they had stayed bachelors and still lived in bachelor digs, where they could turn off the lecture when they got tired of listening to it, or its theme proved unpleasant.

Ordinarily men like the sound of their wives' voices, for every wife will tell you that upon the few and rare occasions upon which she does not feel like talking, and maintains a profound silence, her husband immediately inquires what is the matter, and wants to know if she is sick, or anything is wrong, and gives evidence of being perturbed and ill-used himself.

In all good truth, nobody can imagine a happy, cheerful home presided over by a grim, silent woman who never asked her husband a hundred silly loving questions when he came home of an evening, who never fussed over him, who never talked baby talk to the baby, who never had any news to tell. Imagine how flat a dinner would taste eaten in a silence in which you could hear every scrape of a spoon on a dish because the woman who sat at the head of the table never started a topic. Imagine how long and dull the evenings would be with the companionship of a woman who had no more conversation than a wax model in a store window.

Stevenson put the ability to be a good gossip as one of the chief requisites in a wife, and he was right. The women who make the kind of homes that husbands and children like to stay in are not silent women. They are the talkers. The women who always have an interesting budget of neighborhood news wherewith to entertain their husbands, who make a comedy of the day's happenings, and who cannot go to the corner grocery without seeing or hearing something that makes a good story.

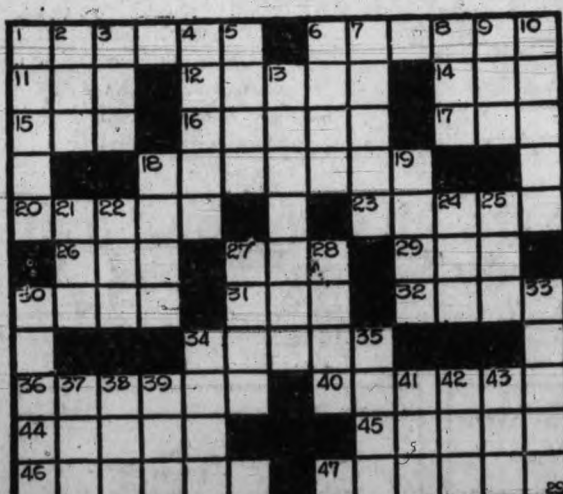

The trouble with women's talking, so far as men are concerned, is not that they talk too much but that they talk about the wrong things. They talk too much about their ailments and their grievances and the things they have to do without, and they tell their husbands too many home truths, and that is why so many husbands feel that they would like to be married to dumb wives.

But if wives would only change their theme song and harp on how handsome and big and strong and wonderful their husbands are and if they would voice their appreciation of all that their husbands do for them, there would be no more call for silence. Their husbands would bid them speak on and feel that they could listen forever.

MOVIETONE FOLLIES PROVE POPULAR AT DOMINION THEATRE

"The New Movietone Follies of 1930" made a highly successful debut at the Dominion Theatre last night before a capacity audience.
Improvement over the 1929 edition of "The Follies" is truly amazing and reflects credit to the strong cast of principals, particularly El Brendel and Marjorie White, who easily capture the comedy honors of the picture, a trick that is becoming a habit with these sterling funmakers.
Frank Richardson and Noel Francis handle the important singing assignments and score outstanding success. William Collier Jr., and Miriam Seegar carry the romantic interest and make a pair of delightful screen lovers. Miss Seegar, recently from the stage, reveals a voice of appealing sweetness and charm.
Yola D'Avril, as a French maid; J. M. Kerrigan, Rusty Gordon and Paul Nicholson are other principals who add immeasurably to the excellence of the production.

JOHN BOLES PLAYS LEADING ROLE IN "THE KING OF JAZZ"

John Boles, the golden voice of the screen, sings one of the most dramatic popular songs ever written since "Long Long Trail" in Universal's colossal musical spectacle, "King of Jazz," now playing at the Capitol Theatre. The song is "The Song of the Dawn," especially written by Milton Ager and Jack Yellen, composer of "I Wonder What Became of Sally" and a thousand other hits, and it has been atmosphericized by John Murray Anderson, the director of the picture, with a horde of cowboy singers in a superlatively beautiful setting. Hundreds of famous stars appear in the "King of Jazz," which stars Paul Whiteman and his internationally famous orchestra. The production is in all-Technicolor.

FAMOUS EXPLORER AT THE COLISEUM IN FINE FEATURE

Two airplanes, shelter houses and a large supply of foodstuffs are buried in the snow in the wastes of the Antarctic ice fields, to board his ship, "City of New York," before the winter entrapped him and his men. This daring race against time is one of the highlights of the Coliseum Theatre feature picture for the last part of the week, "With Byrd at the South Pole." An added attraction at the Coliseum Theatre this week is Nancy Carroll in "Sweetie."

LORETTA YOUNG IS LEADING LADY AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

"A screen actress can put more character into her roles in pictures by the manner in which she does her hair than is possible with her clothes," says the youthful and charming Loretta Young, who is featured with her husband, Grant Withers, in "The Second Floor Mystery," Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production now at the Columbia Theatre.
Loretta, whose popularity has been achieved through both beauty and ability, takes infinite pains in arranging her lovely blonde hair before going to the studio each day.
"If you want to create a distinct impression, one should give much thought to the future. Woman's hair is indeed her crowning glory, and nowhere more than in the talkies. The arrangement of the hair aids characterizations in big close-ups where only the head is seen."

"Acquitted," the Columbia all-talking drama of the underworld which is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre with Lloyd Hughes, Margaret Livingston and Sam Hardy in the featured roles, is a gripping story of romance and adventure.
Marian, played by Margaret Livingston, is desired by Egan, powerful underworld figure enacted by Sam Hardy. Lloyd Hughes in the role of Dr. Bradford, is unjustly imprisoned for life. Marian meets him in prison, where she has been sent by Egan so that she will realize that he is powerful.

"SPLINTERS," BRITISH COMEDY-DRAMA AT DOMINION THEATRE

Jack Raymond, who directed "Splinters," the fine British attraction coming to the Dominion Theatre on Monday for a three-days' run, entered the ranks of directors through the school-door of all-round hard experience. For the four years previous to the war he was a member of Hepworth's Stock Company; then he did his bit in production was suspended for more serious business. After the war he was assistant producer, eventually made a couple of two-reelers for Gaumont, "Somebody Good," for Pathé, and then joined British and Dominions, directing "A Peep Behind the Scenes." "Splinters" has marked him as a very capable producer, and now he is at work upon the scenario of "Splinters in the Navy."

Chaney Funeral Held in California

Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—Lon Chaney, who started life as a clown and met death at the height of his career as one of the screen's most celebrated character actors, was buried yesterday in the Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale. The final chapter in the life story of "the man of a thousand faces," the funeral, reached dramatic heights perhaps above those in the film stories that made him famous.
The climax of the drama came when Lieut.-Colonel H. S. Dyer, United States Marine Corps chaplain, his simple eulogy completed, stepped back from the silver, flower-banked casket, and a violin and organ began softly the strains of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh"—the title of the theme song of one of Chaney's most successful pictures.
Plans for the simple funeral Chaney had wished went astray when 1,500 persons, ardent admirers, eager to get a last glimpse of the body of their idol, milled about the entrance of the chapel.
As the body of the actor was laid to its final rest an airplane, piloted by an officer of the Culver City police, dipped in salute as it sent a shower of blossoms fluttering to earth.

PIONEER HERDER SEES WINNIPEG AFTER 50 YEARS

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Daniel R. Rauenzahn, who was a herdsman for Johnson & Roca, butchers, in the small Winnipeg of 1878, returned to the city this week in a big Buick touring car, piloted by a grandson, who is about the same age Mr. Rauenzahn himself was when he left this town for Seattle in 1881, and is staying for a day or two at the Granite touring camp.
Mr. Rauenzahn, now retired and wealthy and completing an auto tour of Canada and the States, told a Free Press representative of the days of 50 years ago when, as a boy in his herd there, out north in 1880, was the Stony Mountain pasture land with the new settlements growing up around. Here, along the main cart-road, newly named Main Street, was Rauenzahn with his five horses, his buckboard, its mud and its new railroad. "I had come in from St. Paul," Mr. Rauenzahn said, "on the very first freight train that pulled into the station at St. Boniface over the new line. Johnson & Roca had hired me in St. Paul to look after a carload of sheep and a carload of hogs that they were shipping in; and when I got to the town, I liked it and stayed."
RECALLS EARLY SETTLERS
"Say, how are the Mennonites and Icelanders doing? When I was here in those days, the Icelanders would come in from Lake Winnipeg with an ox, harnessed like a horse, hitched to a bobbleigh loaded with whitefish. The Mennonites would come into the store, in their sheepskin coats and felt boots and buy everything in sight. They raised mighty good cattle. Done well."

have they? Well, we thought they would.
"I lost my way on Main Street this morning. Say, when I was here in those days, Scotty McIntyre used to run the old Davis House where the McIntyre block— isn't that the name of it?—stands now. Hought! Scotty would say, when he came into the shop in his Scotch dress to buy beef, and he would always give us the order in Gaelic first and translate it afterwards. I stood on the steps of the Davis and saw a man digging his buggy-wheels out of the mud."
Mr. Rauenzahn's adventures in the past included nine months in the Klondike during the rush of '98. There was plenty of fun during the so-called "gold rush," and a number of Seattleites made fortunes. But Mr. Rauenzahn was not one of them. The foundation of the fortune which enables him to travel in comfort and retirement 50 years was laid when he learned the cattle and purveying business in Winnipeg fifty years ago.

"Fifty thousand dollars? My goodness, no! Why, I knew Mr. Posner only vaguely, and I don't have $50,000 of my own or of Mr. Posner's, and furthermore—" but that's enough to let you know that Helen Kane, above, musical comedy and radio star, flatly denied to reporters that Murray J. Posner, dress manufacturer, gave her $50,000, as alleged in a suit filed by creditors of his company. And Helen's expression here seems to bear out her surprise.

has been in Montreal celebrating his 84th birthday.
Tall and erect, with square shoulders, searching eyes, a kindly smile and firm friendly handshake, the old soldier is the epitome of all he represents, the pioneer, the soldier, the civic leader and the gentleman.

He has left for his birthplace near Hamilton, Ontario, to visit relatives. "When I first remember Winnipeg it was very unimportant compared to Portage la Prairie, and there were no banks there except the government one. On my first trip, Calgary was only being born."

The first Fenian Raid in 1886 found him at the age of twenty years, clamoring for a chance to participate. He was refused, as volunteers were not wanted at that time. When the second Fenian raid broke out he had a commission as junior officer and was able to get into the memorable little army of 1870. Later he took a gunnery course at the Royal Military College at Kingston, and while there came into contact with Col. G. A. French, to whom was given command of the first detachment of "Scarlet Coated Riders of the Plains" who have figured so romantically in the history of Canada's northwest.

When the world war started Col. Walker was right on hand to start his soldier's career all over again. He was assigned the post of commanding officer of the Canadian Forestry Corps. He was seventy years of age and his record prompted Sir Arthur Currie to remark "that he was a man who broke out every fifty years and went to war."

Sir Arthur was host to Col. Walker in Montreal.
